Your stories through scent...

If I had a soap dream (actually, I have many soap dreams doing this job – I had a really weird one recently, but I'm not sure it's repeatable here as my mum reads this column every week!), it would be to see a super-sleek sports car pull up at Home Farm, while a glamorous party is in full swing. The car door would open, and a lady would

"Kim Tate's return is a dream come true!"

step out, dressed to the nines. Announcing herself to the assembled crowd, the woman in question would reveal that she is the owner of the big house – and that her name is... wait for it... Kim Tate!

After 20 years, I was beginning to think this dream would never come true. But as a reward for my total dedication to the world of soap over the years, the telly gods have smiled upon me – and this week, my prayers are answered:

the Queen of Emmerdale is back (see p14 for more)! Now, if only that other dream I had could come true...

ITV Monday

Two weddings and a funeral

Nothing will be the same again as deception and death rock the Street...

Prepare for huge drama on the cobbles – as true love is tainted by secrets and lies, death stalks the Connors yet again, and a Street favourite is left fighting for their life.

Troubled couples Steve and Tracy, and Daniel and Sinead, prepare to walk down the aisle this week – but a terrible betrayal and tragic secret threaten to derail all their chances of a happy-ever-after.

Meanwhile, a moment of madness will change Michelle, Ryan and Ali's lives forever after a terrifying car crash. People first on the scene will be horrified by the injuries sustained by those caught up in the accident, and be torn on how best to help them.

Then, just when it looks as if the shocks are over, Nick Tilsley makes an unexpected return! But what brings him back?

The new Mr and Mrs McDonald?

“TRACY HAS A MASSIVE MELTDOWN AND A HUGE ROW WITH ABI”

First up in the drama stakes are Steve and Tracy, as the bride-to-be's jealousy spirals out of control, leading to violent showdowns with her groom and her pal Abi.

Tracy has no idea that Steve had a one-night stand with Leanne a couple of weeks ago, but she does suspect that he's betrayed her. Convinced that Steve's 'free pass' woman is Abi, furious Tracy heads over to have it out with her and ends up smashing Michelle's car. However, she reserves some fury for Steve, whom she slaps and accuses of doing the dirty on her.

“Steve goes missing on the wedding morning, and Tracy starts to think about the 'free pass' fiasco again,” explains Kate Ford, who plays her.

"That's a small niggle for her – that he actually thought she was giving him free rein to sleep with somebody else. She puts two and two together and makes five, deciding he used this 'free pass' on Abi. That leads to a massive meltdown, a huge row with Abi and then she goes to the garage and sabotages Michelle's car, which Abi's been working on. She hopes that Abi will get in trouble for it, but she's not thinking straight."

It's not just the worry of Steve being unfaithful that is bothering Tracy – she's also deeply upset by Ken, Peter and Beth. They've all chosen to be elsewhere on her big day – in her dad and best mate's case, they've picked Daniel and Sinead's wedding over hers. Meanwhile, Peter has legged it to Portsmouth – which is secretly because he discovered Steve is a cheat.

"Tracy's really hurt," admits Kate. "Her own brother would rather go to Portsmouth than her wedding, and Ken and Beth aren't coming either. It's not a great thing for Daniel to do, to hold his wedding on the same day as hers, and I think on some level he's enjoying it. There's a lot of tension between Daniel and Tracy, and some real hatred there. Tracy resents that he's still the golden child."

After her furious showdown with

Abi, grim-faced Tracy heads over to the venue to have it out with Steve. Viewers know that he's not sure about this wedding and that he did cheat, but that doesn't stop the feckless fella trying to wriggle out of it. Steve swears to Tracy that Abi simply gave him dance lessons, and tries to prove it with his smooth moves. Has he managed to salvage the day, and will Tracy become Mrs McDonald after all?

"IF TRACY FINDS OUT THAT STEVE SLEPT WITH LEANNE, SHE'LL BE SO HURT"

"She really believes that this is their time," muses Kate.

"Tracy has always loved Steve, and she's dreamt of this wedding. But if she finds out he slept with Leanne, she won't marry him – she'll be really stung. You'll have to wait and see if they make it down the aisle. It doesn't get off to the best of starts when Tracy arrives at the venue determined to have it out with Steve. He has a lot of talking to do to calm Tracy down!"

The perfect match!

The Steve and Tracy romance has been brilliant for actress Kate, because she loves working closely with her screen love Simon Gregson. The old pals have a great working relationship, and she's having a ball now they are coupled up.

"I'm happiest when I'm playing comedy stuff with Simon," she enthuses. "We have such a laugh together. I'm really enjoying Steve and Tracy being back together and playing the humour in their relationship. I've also had some great scenes with Beverley Callard [aka Liz] recently, and it's always nice being back in the Barlow house too!"

ITV MONDAY

There's a beautiful moment in store for Daniel and Sinead this week, as they get set to marry in a ceremony which Daniel has secretly organised. However, Sinead is yet to tell him that she may have cancer.

So while they proceed to pledge their love in front of family and friends, can Sinead be honest with Daniel about what she's going through?

"Daniel is completely oblivious that anything could be wrong – he's blinded by love," admits Rob Mallard, who plays Daniel. "Since he and Sinead got back together, everything has been going really well – too well, almost. He thinks Sinead is suffering normal pregnancy stuff like sickness and fatigue. So as far as he's concerned, life is rosy – he just hasn't noticed anything else happening."

Consequently, while Daniel is busy transforming the garden on Victoria Street into a scene from A Midsummer Night's Dream, he has no idea that his wife-to-be is alone at the hospital, anxiously waiting for a biopsy and scan which should reveal whether or not she has cervical cancer. And the last thing she expects on returning to the cobbles is Daniel proposing that they get married right there and then...

"Because of their rocky journey to this point, Daniel is thinking, 'Let's do this while we can because you don't know what might happen'," explains Rob. "And also, because Sinead is off the wall and unconventional, it seems to make more sense to do it as a surprise rather than in the traditional, conventional sense. It's more of a Pagan ceremony than a wedding, for which they could go to a register office to make it official. It's not as if Kirk, who's overseeing proceedings, has been ordained or anything!"

The admiring looks on everyone's faces say it all as Daniel and Sinead – who dons a beautiful wedding dress – begin to say their touching vows. But the romantic proceedings could be brought to a halt should Sinead tell Daniel about her health news. What might it mean for their future together if she does?

Daniel and Sinead get hitched – but will despair descend before the confetti does?

Reaching out

In tackling this difficult plot, Katie McGlynn – who plays Sinead – reveals how she's been inspired by the work of an important cancer charity...

"I met with a charity called Mummy's Star, which was started by a man who lost his wife to cancer soon after the birth of their child," shares the star. "I also met a lady who had cancer while pregnant. It's important for women going through this to know that there are charities like Mummy's Star out there, and that they're not on their own. So many people are affected by this, but it's a subject nobody really hears about."

Soap's BIG Week!

Michelle faces one of the most terrifying moments of her life this week, as she enters into a tense game of cat-and-mouse with violent criminal Ronan – and we can confirm that the stand-off between them will end with at least one grisly death!

The gangster is baying for blood following the sudden death of his son, Cormac, and wants Ryan to pay for his involvement in the tragedy. But as Michelle makes the hasty decision to flee Weatherfield with sons Ryan and Ali in tow, who will pay the ultimate price when this violent vendetta reaches its gripping climax?

“Michelle goes into full protection mode – she doesn’t even think twice about the situation,” reveals Kym Marsh, who plays the petrified mum. “She’s scared, but when they jump in the car, she knows that they’re heading out of Weatherfield. Once she sees Ronan following them in the mirror, it turns to terror and panic. There’s this huge car chase – he’s trying to run her off the road, and it’s intense. It’s going to be a rough ride!”

Ryan’s regret

This whole life-and-death situation has come about as a result of Ryan’s foolish actions – only this time, he’s dragged Michelle’s other son Ali into the sorry saga too! After a night out with Ryan’s old pal Cormac ended with the latter taking a fatal overdose, Ryan called on Ali to help get him out of the tricky situation – but it was already too late for Cormac.

To make matters even worse, Ryan dragged his mother Michelle into the cover-up too, and she was forced to lie to protect her son from the ire of Cormac’s savage father, Ronan.

“MICHELLE CONFRONTS RONAN – BUT HE THREATENS HER ENTIRE FAMILY!”

“Cormac’s death was obviously a big shock to everybody,” Kym reminds us. “Michelle would do anything for her sons, so she just wanted to cover it up. Ali was furious because he’d been dragged into the lie – he didn’t want to be a part of it, but went along with it because Michelle asked him to. However, after they found out that the drug dealer who supplied the dodgy pills to Cormac had been killed, everybody started fearing the worst.”

Escape plan

It wasn’t long before the police discovered Ryan’s involvement in Cormac’s death, and they hauled him to the station for questioning. But once he found out that Ronan was on the warpath, Ryan realised that being behind bars and out of the thug’s reach was probably the best place to be!

This week, however, Ryan discovers he’s not even safe on the inside, as there’s a corrupt officer in the station

Ryan decides to face Ronan – who drives directly at him!

Michelle realises she needs to get Ali and Ryan out of Weatherfield who's well and truly in Ronan's pocket! So once Ryan returns home, battered and bruised from his run-in with the dodgy copper, Michelle decides that enough is enough...

"After Ryan is beaten by a police officer, and funeral wreaths are left at the flat, Michelle realises she must do something," shares Kym. "So she confronts Ronan at Cormac's wake – where he threatens not only Ryan, but her entire family! Michelle is terrified."

At this point, it's clear that reasoning with Ronan just isn't going to work...

With options running out, Michelle makes the decision to flee Weatherfield completely!

"She lies to Ryan and Ali that they're going to the police to get them in the car," explains Kym. "However, she's realised that there is something dodgy going on with the authorities, and they're not to be trusted. She's terrified for her family's safety, so when she gets in the car, she has no intention of going to the police."

Sudden death!

However, Michelle, Ryan and Ali soon realise that Ronan is following them! Michelle's a mum on a mission as she sticks pedal to the metal to outrun the gangster, and a nail-biting car chase follows.

"Those were great scenes to film, but they were long days – so we were all very tired by the end of it," admits Kym. "There was a lot of emotion during filming, yet it was good fun. I got to do some stunt driving, and we never normally get to do things like that."

Ali is suspended from work after his involvement with Cormac's death is discovered

The terrified trio finally come unstuck when the car's engine dies, having been tampered with by Tracy (see p6)! With the family now sitting targets for Ronan, Ryan makes the bold crouched over him! And it seems he's in a bad way...

But is this really the end of the horrific ordeal? Recent behind-the-scenes snaps of the crash showed that Leanne was also at the site, looking extremely battered and bruised. So how does she end up becoming involved in the unfolding drama? And could there yet be even more bloodshed as Michelle strides off, determined to make Ronan pay for what he's done to her son?

Sarah Ellis

decision to get out of the car and face the villain alone, in a misguided attempt to save his mum and Ali from any further harm. Despite this selfless gesture, Ronan wastes no time in driving straight at Ryan – and our pictures show the lad lying by the side of the road, covered in blood, with worried Michelle and Ali

Ryan is in big trouble from a corrupt police officer, who's in cahoots with Ronan!

“I was fully up for the big car chase!”

Ryan Prescott – aka Ryan – lifts the lid on filming this week’s action-packed episodes of Corrie...

All of this drama has come about because of Ryan’s foolish actions. How does he find himself in these crazy situations?

He might be a lad about town – but Ryan does have good intentions! He tried to stay off the drugs and keep out of trouble, yet Cormac brought out the naughty side of him. He does want to keep his promise to his mum and turn over a new leaf, as he’s still trying to find his place in the family – and Ali threatens that in a way.

How does everything that happens this week affect Ryan and Ali’s relationship?

They’re not brothers or related in any way, but as time goes on they do start to develop this sibling dynamic – there’s rivalry, there’s contempt for each other. Ali is furious that he’s in this situation because of Ryan. He’s being investigated by the hospital and facing suspension. But Ryan has somebody trying to kill him, so he’s like, “Mate, forget about your job, we could lose our lives!”

The crash looks very dramatic! Did you get to do any of your own stunts?

Oh yeah, we were in those cars! It was like cat and mouse, the cars were swerving around all over the place. But I was quite enjoying myself – any excuse to have some fun on location! I used to do a lot of motor cross and skating back in the day, so I was fully up for it. And it looks great, actually. I’ve seen a sneak peek.

Do you feel settled at Corrie now you’ve been there a few months?

There is a period of time in which you acclimatise, but it’s the people that settle you here. As you start to build relationships with them, you feel more comfortable. People really do want to get to know you, even though they’re busy. It’s all about the banter – it’s a filthy place to work! There are some rude minds here!

What’s the public reaction been like to Ryan?

I haven’t had any bricks thrown at me, which is nice! The public reaction has been very good so far. The people who want a picture really love the show, so you just become an extension of that. You have to remember that it’s not you they want a picture of – it’s the show.

Could you be friends with Ryan in real life?

No – he’s an idiot! I think self-confidence is important, but self-awareness is a little bit more important. Ryan makes silly decisions because he wants to be the centre of attention – that comes from a deeper sense that he wants people to value him.

Will he be forced to grow up?

Well, he might die! He can’t keep running away from himself, he can’t keep drinking and doing drugs, as that hasn’t made him any happier. He has no sense of grounding, and that’s what he’s come back home to find. Deep down, his intentions are pure. He’s smarter than people think!

The rise and fall of Kim Tate!

The Dales' first lady is back in town –
but for how long?

The grand dame of Home Farm is back under its roof this week, and she's badder and bitchier than ever! Fresh out of jail, Kim Tate returns to her castle as if she never left almost 20 years ago – declaring that she still owns the village estate.

But as she shamelessly gloats over the assembled masquerade ball guests and immediately clashes with Charity, Kim looks set to regret her shock comeback. Very soon, there's a terrifying scream as the lady of the manor plummets over the upstairs balcony, landing with a crash into the champagne fountain below. But who pushed her? And is she dead?

"Kim has been pulling the Home Farm strings all this time – it's still her property, and she still owns the deeds," reveals Claire King, who first appeared as the formidable Madame Tate in 1989. "She pulls up outside the house during the charity ball in an Aston Martin, dressed to the nines and with a mask on – then proceeds to take over the whole ball, basically making it into her welcome home party!

"Everyone there is going, 'Who is this woman?' – then she takes off her mask and reveals herself by saying, 'Me! I own the place'. There are one or two people at the ball who still recognise her, and they're shocked to find out that she's back..."

"KIM HAS BEEN PULLING THE HOME FARM STRINGS ALL THIS TIME!"

Out and proud

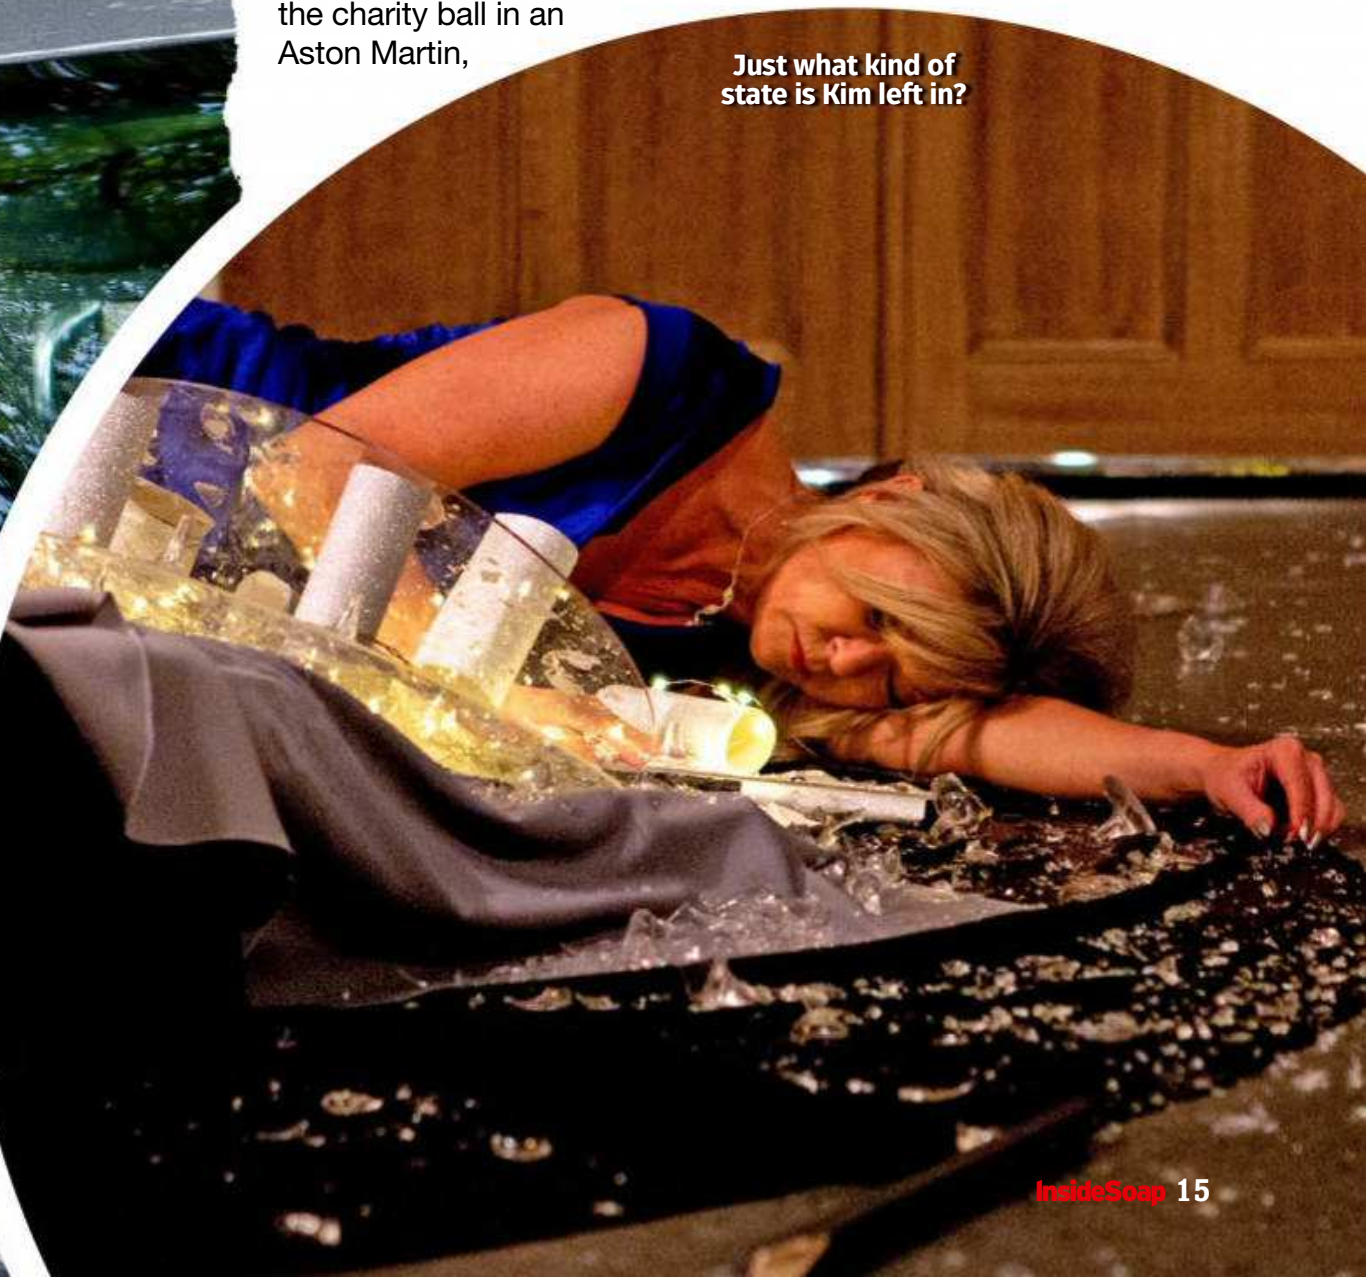

Kim's massive week is set to start in less salubrious surroundings, as we find her standing outside prison – where she's been serving a sentence – waiting for Graham to come to collect her. But while it transpires that the pair have been working together all this time, the shocking details of Kim's wicked plot are yet to be fully revealed.

"Everything is set to become clear across the week," teases Claire.

"Kim's obviously been a very naughty girl, because she's been incarcerated in prison. She's released six months early, but has been in there for a while – I think some of her heinous crimes have caught up with her! She's probably been abroad somewhere, carrying on her crimes in Spain or Portugal, before getting caught."

As Graham proceeds to bring Kim up to speed on events in the village, her delight at finally being a free woman is soon replaced by fury. Outraged by the news that Joe and Debbie are set to wed, she swiftly informs mortified Graham that Joe needs to go!

"KIM HAS BEEN IN PRISON – HER HEINOUS CRIMES HAVE CAUGHT UP WITH HER!"

"It turns out that Joe and Graham have been working for Kim while she's been behind bars," admits Claire. "And it appears that Joe has gone a little bit rogue through his involvement with Debbie. Kim's not happy, so it looks as if him getting married to a Dingle wasn't part of the plan!"

Ta ta, Ms Tate?

While Graham gets to work on his boss lady's latest instruction, Kim has plenty of time to prepare for her grand entrance to the masked ball. And from the moment she steps out of her flashy car, it's clear she hasn't lost an ounce of that classic Kim Tate sass which we know and love...

Kim tries to steady herself, but the weight of her barnet tips the balance...

Kim doesn't waste a second before dishing out crushing comments to all and sundry, leaving no guest unscathed by her acid tongue – and Charity is first into the fray, with her friends forced to hold her back as she stands her ground and furiously lets rip at Kim. So when Kim comes tumbling from the heights of Home Farm, is Charity prime suspect for sending her flying – possibly to her death?

"I think one of the Dingles would be in the frame as far as Kim is concerned," suggests Claire. "But bets will be hedged more on Charity than anybody else, because she's the gobby one at the party. It could be her, yet it may not be. We'll have to wait and see!"

Allison Jones

They have a hatred for Chris Tate in common – but these two bold blondes quickly clash

...and her attempts to fly make no difference – she's going down!

WHODUNNIT?

Kim makes a lot of new enemies in record time...

JOE

Kim is Joe's stepgranny, who stood and watched as her hubby Frank – Joe's granddad – died in front of her. Now that Kim's trying to kill Joe's relationship with Debbie, he has plenty of reasons to want her gone.

CHARITY

Capable of holding her own, Charity was indirectly responsible for the job Kim couldn't finish – killing Chris Tate, Charity's ex-husband and Kim's former stepson. So is angry Charity about to see her off, too?

DEBBIE

Charity's her mum and Joe's her man – so despite having never laid eyes on Kim, Debbie already has beef with her. And Kim's potentially fatal shove could well be down to Debs – like mother, like daughter!

VANESSA

Vanessa isn't backwards in coming forwards when protecting her girlfriend – as she drags her lover away from Kim this week. But that's not to say she won't wade in against the woman herself...

GRAHAM

There's a lot still to know about Kim and Graham's past – he's her loyal sidekick, but is there more to their close relationship? Now she's back, does Graham fear Kim will kick him to the kerb – sparking his violent temper?

Bride and doom!

As Debbie waits for her hubby-to-be, Kim orders Joe dead...

Debbie is left stunned this week, as Joe announces that they're to marry in a matter of hours – but will he actually live to say, 'I do'?

While smitten Joe is busy rushing together a top-secret wedding ceremony in the hospital chapel, he's oblivious to the fact that Graham's other boss – Kim Tate – has insisted that Joe be dealt with for good. Just how far is Graham willing to go in order to ensure that Joe disappears?

"When Kim Tate is calling the shots, it's a brave man who disobeys her orders," claims our Dales insider. "Graham is braver than most – so can he say no to Kim? After Graham collects her from jail, she's outraged to discover Joe is on the verge of marrying a Dingle, and that Debbie could have a claim on his fortune once they're man and wife.

"Her instruction to Graham is clear – yet could she be underestimating the power of Graham's affection for the boy he's watched grow up?"

Graham was appalled to find out that Joe had gone against his advice and forged Debbie's signature on a pre-nuptial agreement. Well aware that this illegal move could leave Debbie in line for a major inheritance should anything happen to her husband-to-be, Kim now considers Joe a threat to her future plans. But it's Graham who's left to get his hands dirty...

"As Graham stands before Joe clutching a garotte, and reveals he knows about his wedding plans, Joe is understandably terrified," shares our sneak. Meanwhile, Debbie and her daughter Sarah have changed into their wedding outfits and are awaiting Joe's arrival at the chapel. When he fails to show, worried Debbie tries repeatedly to get hold of him – with no joy. So has Graham's stark warning persuaded Joe to forsake his new family and leg it?

Joe suggests he and Debbie get married fast – but will he end up jilting her?

Graham is horrified when Kim gives him her orders

Tough love

“Joe and Debbie’s relationship has been jinxed from the start – and Kim Tate’s dramatic reappearance seems to be the final nail in the coffin,” sighs our spy. “Grim Graham certainly makes no bones about just how critical it is that Joe disappear – but will Joe do as he’s told for once, and abandon Debbie at the altar? Or could true love really conquer all in spite of the dangerous consequences?”

Allison Jones

Debbie’s no stranger to disastrous nuptials – and disastrous relationships in general!

She’s dated a serial killer (Cameron Murray), a former fiancé’s sibling (Pete’s brother Ross) and even her mum Charity’s husband-to-be (Michael Conway)! And when she finally married Pete – shortly before he discovered she’d been sleeping with Ross – a helicopter proceeded to come crashing down on to their stricken ceremony.

So as Graham lays down the law to Joe, is she about to secure a lucky escape – or is she heading for romantic disaster all over again?

BBC1 TUESDAY

Ruby is having a great time with one of Martin's old friends...

...but the next morning, it's clear that things took a very dark turn

The morning after...

Ruby's fun night ends in horror as she realises a terrible truth – she was raped by Martin's mate...

Ruby Allen has only been back in Walford for a couple of weeks, but she's about to endure the most distressing time of her life. This week, she becomes the victim of rape – although it takes a while for her to realise just what has happened to her.

The grim encounter occurs after Martin pleads with wife Stacey to join him at E20 for his school reunion. While Stacey isn't keen on going, she eventually agrees – on the condition that her friend Ruby attends too, giving her someone to talk to as Martin reminisces with his old pals.

"Ruby gets dragged along by Stacey to this reunion, and has a great night," says Louisa Lytton, aka Ruby. "She's drinking and dancing, and having the time of her life!"

However, while the evening starts off in high spirits, it soon takes a very dark turn. Stacey is quickly bored by the chats going on around her, but Ruby is enjoying flirting with Martin's mates: Ross, Matt and Glenn. As the drinks flow, she takes a shine to Ross – yet it's clear Ruby has all their attentions.

"Stacey and Martin leave, but Ruby stays in the club," shares Louisa. "She's flirting and having a great time, and is up for something more – though that's the end of the episode. You don't see what happens afterwards."

However, when the next episode picks up the story the following morning, it's clear a lot happened once Ruby and the blokes left E20. While Martin meets up with his three pals for breakfast, Ruby visits Stacey, who is eager to find out what went on after she went home.

"It's a very good episode," promises Louisa. "You hear what happened from Ruby's point of view, and from the boys' point of view. It's like a two-hander, with the two conversations telling the story from different sides."

As the men tuck into their breakfasts, Martin learns that Ruby had sex with Ross and Matt. Martin is shocked by the revelation, but the men insist that it was consensual.

Meanwhile, as the girls stop off at the chemist on Turpin Road, Stacey overhears Ruby asking the pharmacist for the morning-after pill. Although Ruby says everything is fine, Stacey senses something is wrong with her pal, so asks her to come home with her.

Once back at the Slater house, Ruby admits that she had consensual sex with Ross before she passed out.

However, she then says that later that night she woke up to find Matt on top of her – and Ruby tells Stacey that she blames herself for being so drunk.

“Ruby’s point of view, at that moment, is that she wasn’t raped,” explains Louisa. “She tells Stacey, ‘Well, no, because I didn’t stop him’. Stacey says, ‘But you didn’t say yes. You didn’t choose to have sex with him, so you’ve been raped!’”

Not long afterwards, Stacey is utterly appalled to hear from Martin that his former school friends are insisting that what occurred was completely consensual. She goes to the police station to ask for advice, and then reunites with Ruby, who is struggling to come to terms with what happened. Stacey convinces her pal to visit the clinic, and to consider talking to the police about what happened.

“I’ve spoken to [charity] Rape Crisis, and people in this situation often blame themselves,” Louisa tells us. “You’re traumatised and disgusted, and you don’t want to accept what happened. So you don’t want to go to the police – you just want it all to go away. Stacey has been through this herself, so she has the experience to tell Ruby, ‘You need to report this and take the blame away from yourself’.

“Ruby doesn’t really know what was right or wrong,” continues the star. “She doesn’t know what she remembers to begin with, but things start coming back to her. Ruby begins to piece everything

“STACEY TELLS RUBY THAT SHE NEEDS TO REPORT WHAT HAPPENED”

Stacey can't believe it when Martin tells her his mates' accounts of what happened together and says, ‘Yeah, I didn’t want that’.”

You’ll have to wait and see how the story unfolds over the coming weeks. However, it becomes clear that Ruby’s account of the night is very different from Matt’s. Can she admit to herself that she is a rape victim, and will she be able to bring herself to report Matt to the police?

Ruby's RETURN!

Louisa tells us how she's thrilled to be back in Walford...

Hi Louisa! How did you come to be back on Albert Square?

Originally, my agent rang and told me EastEnders had called. I was like, "What do you mean? About what?" Then [executive consultant] John Yorke called me and said, "We have a massive plot coming up, and we'd love you to come back to do it."

So he outlined the whole storyline to you?

Yeah! He said it'd be nice to team Ruby back up with Stacey, but also that this happens to my character pretty much straight away. As an actress, all you want is to go into a show and have a huge storyline.

Had you ever thought what Ruby would be doing now, since we last saw her back in 2006?

Of course. Ruby is nearly 30, so I thought she'd be married with kids, and coming back with a family. She left with all her dad's money and moved to her house in Essex, so you kind of drum up this story in your head of what's happened to her – and it wasn't anything at all like I had expected!

What was it like reuniting with Lacey [Turner, aka Stacey]?

So nice! When we first saw each other in the make-up room, we giggled like schoolgirls for the first 10 minutes! It was weird, because I hadn't seen her for six or seven years, but within minutes it was back to day one.

Did you do a lot of research for this story?

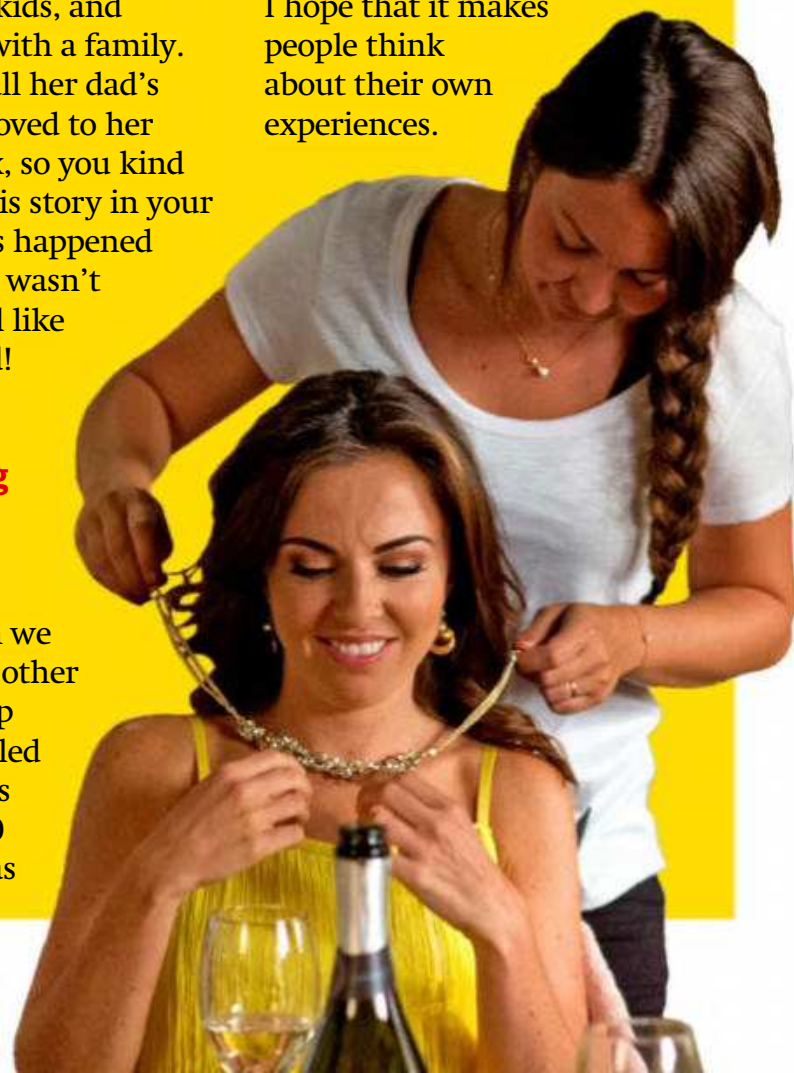

Yeah, I think I had to. The research team at EastEnders has been working heavily with Rape Crisis. They've overseen every single script and given notes. I've had someone on hand to ask, "How would you feel in this situation?" That's been great. I'm also going into a centre in south London to speak to women that have been sexually assaulted.

How do you hope this storyline is received?

It's sold as Ruby's rape storyline, but it's heavily split between her and the guys. It's covered from a man's point of view too, which makes it different from a usual rape storyline. It's about consent. I hope that it makes people think about their own experiences.

Channel 4 WEDNESDAY

In sickness and in health

Cleo's battling with bulimia as she prepares to marry Joel...

Cleo and Joel's wedding day arrives this week – though with Cleo hiding a big secret from her loved ones, will the occasion end in heartbreak?

A special episode for World Mental Health Day will focus on Cleo's ongoing battle with bulimia while she prepares to get hitched to her true love, Joel. But the event doesn't pan out how the blushing bride had hoped, as Nadine Mulkerrin – who plays Cleo – explains...

"When I realised they were tying Cleo's wedding in with World Mental Health Day, and this would be the crescendo of the bulimia plot, I thought it was amazing," she grins, when Inside Soap joins her on set for the filming of the wedding. "Hollyoaks always treats these big, issue-led storylines with such sensitivity – so after they told me about this special episode, I couldn't wait!"

In the lead-up to the big day, Cleo has been acting just like any other bride-to-be, obsessing over her wedding dress and all of the other preparations to be made. But behind closed doors, she's been bingeing on sweets and chocolate, then making herself sick – while also exercising to the extreme in a bid to control her weight. So as her nuptials approach, none of Cleo's loved ones know what's happening beneath the surface.

"Even at the wedding, Cleo has her step counter attached around her ankle!" reveals Nicole Barber-Lane, aka Cleo's Auntie Myra, as she takes up the story. "Nobody realises how bad things are, because

"THE BULIMIA CAN DISTORT YOUR VIEW OF REALITY – CLEO IS IN DENIAL"

Cleo has become really good at hiding her condition from everybody. When they get to the venue, Myra can see that Cleo doesn't look right, but she doesn't know why. She's thinking, 'Is this because she doesn't really want to get married?' She just doesn't understand what's going on in Cleo's head right now."

By the time Cleo arrives at the church in her gorgeous dress, it soon becomes clear that something is seriously wrong with her. Rather than appearing radiant with joy, her skin is looking sallow and she's lethargic as she walks down the aisle to meet Joel.

"Cleo's in total denial," sighs Nadine. "The way the story unfolds, it's basically two different versions of the day. So it's what Cleo thinks is happening versus what is actually happening. That's what bulimia can do, it can distort your view of reality."

Viewers will have to tune in to find out what happens next – yet it's fair to say that Cleo's wedding probably won't be the happiest day of her life.

"The show goes out at 6.30, so we can't push things too far – but at the same time, we have a responsibility to tell the story truthfully," Nadine tells us. "With something as serious as bulimia, you can't glamorise it. I think the way the writers have done this episode is very clever, though – I'm really excited to see the feedback from the viewers."

Sarah Ellis

Life imitating art?

Filming the wedding was an odd experience for stars Nadine and Rory Douglas-Speed, who plays Joel – as the pair are also an item in real life!

"When we did the engagement scenes, I was really nervous – I could feel myself going bright red!" blushes Rory. "Then we sent pictures to both our families of us in the wedding costumes, pretending that we'd eloped!"

"I'm not going to lie, I loved it!" adds Nadine. "It was very strange and surreal. But hopefully if we do ever get married in real life, it will be totally different from Cleo and Joel's wedding!"

NICK'S BIG SECRET!

He's back in Leanne's life – but his past is about to catch up with him...

In the midst of the big drama kicking off on the Street this week, Nick Tilsley makes his shock return to Weatherfield – but there's more surprises in store in the coming weeks, according to reports.

Gail's son was last seen leaving the Street a year ago, after a failed attempt to reunite with Leanne – and Corrie bosses have revealed that his return is connected to his feelings for his ex-wife. But if Nick does manage to woo Leanne back, he's going to have to fess up – because Nick's got himself a new wife, and she's set to arrive in Weatherfield!

"It looks as if Nick's new marriage hasn't worked out – in fact, it seems so bad, he's run away from his wife!" says our cobbles insider. "She's not happy about being abandoned, and he's in for a shock after she tracks him down. But the question is: how far has he got his feet under Leanne's table? And how will she react when he reveals he's gone and got hitched again? With two scorned exes on the Street, life could soon get very difficult for Nick..."

While the newcomer is set to ruffle a few feathers, she certainly can't Danson, who plays Leanne, is delighted that Ben Price – aka Nick – is heading back to the cobbles, and is even hoping that it could turn out to be third time lucky for the pair!

"I'm really pleased," says Jane of Ben Price's return as Nick. "Ultimately, Nick is the love of Leanne's life – they've been through compete on the history Nick and Leanne have! After all, the couple originally married as teenagers, then wed again back in 2013. Jane Could we see a happy reunion for Leanne and Nick?

Will there be hugs from mum Gail on Nick's return?

KEEPING IT REAL

Danny Dyer promises he's not taking the Mick...

EastEnders' Danny Dyer is going to be a busy boy in the coming months, but fans of Mick Carter shouldn't worry – the actor has revealed that he's happy to keep playing the loveable landlord for a fair while yet!

Danny has two stage shows in the offing: he'll be playing the Producer in Nativity! – The Musical this Christmas in London, alongside his daughter (and Love Island winner) Dani, and then January will see him starring alongside Sherlock's Martin Freeman in The Dumb Waiter in London's West End. Meanwhile, filming has started on a reality TV show centred on Dani Jnr, but featuring her whole family – including dad Danny!

"We've just sort of started," revealed Dani on Capital Radio. "It's exciting. It is hard work, though. It is weird, though. Me nan loves it, though."

Despite having all this going on, Danny has assured fans that he's fully dedicated to his Walford role.

"People are loving Mick Carter," he says. "And for as long as people are loving him, I'll keep playing him."

Hannah's revenge!

SHE THREATENS JOHNNY AT THE WEDDING RECEPTION...

Hannah tries to regain control this week, as her wicked plan to extort money from Liz and Johnny seems in danger of collapsing. However, can she still rely on Jim to back her up, or has she lost him to his ex?

The evil con woman seems to be unravelling, while her partner-in-crime Jim secretly meets with Liz, telling her that he's never stopped loving her. While he pours out his heart to his ex-wife, Jim begs her to give him another chance, insisting they could be happy together. Liz promises to think it over, but what is going on in Jim's mind? Is he genuine in his feelings for Liz, or is he still intending to carry on with Hannah's planned sting?

"Jim is sending out mixed signals to say the least!"

chuckles our cobbles insider. "He may well have true feelings for Liz – yet he's also led her to believe that Hannah is their long-lost daughter, while making out with the young woman behind everyone's back! The question is: who will Jim choose when the chips are down – Liz or Hannah?"

Hannah is getting rattled now – who will Jim choose?"

Hannah demands cash from Johnny – will he be forced to comply?

Later, the torn fella tells his co-conspirator that the money has come through from Liz's bank account, and that Hannah should leave without him. Despite this, Hannah suspects that Jim isn't quite as loyal to her as he claims...

"Make no mistake, Hannah is the brains behind this operation," says our mole. "She's planned the whole thing from the start, and has used Jim as a pawn – so she's not one to have the wool pulled over her eyes easily! When Liz tells Jim that she would like to give their relationship another chance, Hannah watches on dubiously. Although Jim insists to Hannah that his feelings for Liz are all part of the deception, surely the expert con artist will work out that she's the one who's now being conned?"

With doubts about Jim swirling around in her mind, Hannah spots another opportunity to get what she wants at Steve and Tracy's wedding. She sidles up to Johnny and bluntly tells him that if he doesn't hand over £5,000, she will expose his affair with Liz to his wife, Jenny!

"Hannah is getting rattled now," reckons our snitch. "It was only a short time ago that she had it all mapped out, and her anonymous threat to Johnny looked as if it might pay dividends. However, she's now lost her cool – blowing her cover and running the risk of Johnny calling her bluff!"

Johnny has already made it clear that he won't respond to blackmail threats, so Hannah may find herself without the cash, having unmasked herself as a fraud. Unless, of course, she has another trick up her sleeve...

MEL PAYS HER EX JACK TO SPY ON HER LOVER...

Jack has information on Ray – what will Mel make of it?

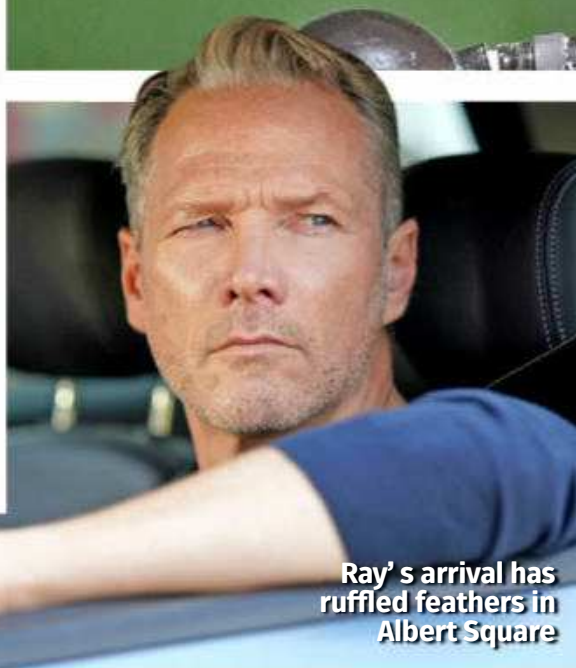

Suspicious Mel decides that it's time to find out what Ray's hiding from her this week, so enlists the help of her former boyfriend Jack.

As an ex-detective, Jack has connections and is champing at the bit to start digging into Ray's world, determined to prove that the fella is up to no good. Sick of Ray's sneaky antics, Mel is further incensed when Jack reveals another secret that her man didn't tell her. So, handing over a big wad of cash, Mel tells Jack to start digging for info.

“It's a rather strange thing to pay the man you ditched to investigate the bloke you ditched him for, though Mel likes to be different,” whispers our Albert Square insider. “Some might argue that by dragging Jack into this, she's exploiting his feelings for her, but Mel is desperate to find out more. She really wants to believe that Ray is a changed man, because she loves him. However, his secret antics remind her of the bad old days when she was with sly Steve Owen.”

Ray's arrival has ruffled feathers in Albert Square

It's a tense time in Mel's house until Ray breaks the ice by giving her a romantic anniversary present. She's so bowled over by his gesture that when Jack stops her to tell her he has some news, Mel decides she doesn't Playing mysterious Ray is a dream come true for EastEnders newcomer Sean Mahon. While fans guess and speculate over what's really going on with the enigmatic Mr Kelly, Sean is enjoying being in possession of a big soapland bombshell.

"It's always great to come in with a secret that you are slowly divulging," he told Metro.co.uk. When she gets home, Ray demands to know what was going on there, and Mel reluctantly admits that she was after information – which doesn't go down at all well.

"Ray is livid because she's doubting him and dragging Jack into it too," shares our source. "It's not a good sign that he and Mel are already at each other's throats again – the pair have only been back together for a couple of weeks. It doesn't take long for them to make up, but as soon as Mel has come to the decision to forgive and forget, Ray gets a mysterious phone call, and leaves Mel nursing her glass of wine on her own. That's when she cracks!"

Marching over to Jack's place, Mel tells him that she's changed her mind and wants to know what dirt he has on Ray. Jack's all too happy to oblige, and when he shares what he knows with Mel, she starts to work out what's been going on. Armed with Jack's

Can Moira stop Ross committing MURDER?

THE BAD BOY BARTON WANTS REVENGE ON HIS ATTACKER...

Ross gets hold of Simon – but will his revenge mission see him kill?

Seeing Simon sends vengeful Ross into a violent rage

Raging Ross has murder in mind this week, as he gets Simon – the man who attacked him with acid – right where he wants him. But when events reach a dramatic climax, there's one thing standing in the way as Ross prepares to become a murderer – his Auntie Moira...

Following the tip-off from his ex-lover Dawn, Ross discovers that Simon is attending Joe Tate's masquerade ball with the intention of robbing the joint while he's there. Grabbing a holdall packed with duct tape, rope and plastic ties, “Ross needs the chapter to be closed on this part of his life”

Ross rushes up to the estate to kidnap Simon. What does he want from the man who destroyed his life?

“Ultimately, Ross wants to hear Simon confess, and he wants justice to be served, but because the court case was thrown out, the only justice he can get is revenge,” explains Michael Parr, who plays the Barton brother. “It's gone past getting ‘an eye for an eye’ given the mental torture that Simon has put him through. Ross just wants to kill him.”

This is a very dangerous situation, not least because

Ross has started relying on hard drugs to get him through the day. His judgement is clouded – and his plan is flawed, to say the least...

“As always with Ross, there are more holes in his plan than a sieve!” despairs Mike. “There's a scramble when he hears where Simon is, and he rushes to put things in a bag. He packs some weapons and things to tie him up with, so he just acts instinctually. He thinks he's planning – but with Ross, it never goes to plan.”

When he arrives at Home Farm, his Aunt Moira spots him and then Simon. Realising that Ross plans to kill, Moira tries to intervene.

“She's the good angel on his shoulder, and she tells him that he doesn't really want to do this,” shares Mike. “Moira can relate to this because she killed Emma, Ross' mum. She knows how hard it is to live with a death on your conscience.”

However, when Ross claps eyes on Simon, the fella sees red – and the chase is on.

“Ross is furious,” says Mike. “This secretive plan goes right out of the window, and they take off on foot chasing each other. Ross is in a rage, and after he catches Simon, who keeps lying, it sends him over the edge. Simon's terrified because of how Ross is, and there's a big fight scene. It was great fun to film.”

Moira discovers the two men at the lake, and she does everything in her power to get through to Ross. But given the ordeal he's been through at Simon's hands, it's unclear if she'll be able to make any difference. Will Ross get what he needs from this revenge moment?

“He needs the chapter to be closed on this part of his life,” muses Mike. “It would be a huge milestone if he could just get a confession from Simon, and some kind of justice.”

Kate White

Emily Head (Rebecca) hopes for better times...

While it looks as if Ross is about to do something he might regret, could this week's events actually see him finally move on? Emily Head – who plays Rebecca – reckons that they might...

“Ross and Rebecca have both been through a lot,” shares the star. “They've lost family members at the hands of other family members. So if Ross can make her happy, yeah – put them together!”

We've witnessed Ross grow close to Rebecca in recent weeks, but his vendetta has held him back. So if he's able to find some closure on his attack, and Rebecca recovers from her own traumatic ordeal, perhaps romance will finally blossom.

End of the road for Cassius!

HIS SECRET IS FINALLY OUT...

Piper finally learns the truth this week, when Cassius confesses that he killed Hamish! Will Piper stand by him, or is it all over for the murderer?

Following a warning call from his mum, Elissa, terrified Cassius goes on the run, yet Piper is in hot pursuit and wants answers!

She finds him hiding out at a motel, agitated and upset. But after a grilling, Cassius reveals all... He was the one who saved Piper from the bush, he's Tyler's brother, and he killed Hamish!

"It takes Piper a while to process what's happened..."

"Piper takes control of the situation, unlike in the past with Tyler," says Mavournee Hazel, who plays her. "That ruined her and she was on the receiving end of all of that, so

"Piper has matured since she spiralled after Tyler," Mavournee tells us. "She goes through not liking Cassius and hating herself for not listening to Bea. Ultimately, she concludes that she doesn't like what Cassius did, but she doesn't hate him."

After Cassius is charged with Hamish's murder, Piper is left reeling and confused by this shocking turn of events.

"Piper acts very rationally, but it takes her a while to process what has happened – it's an internal battle," sighs Mavournee. "One day she wants Cassius to rot in jail, and the next she's reading him a list of lawyers. She doesn't really know what she's doing."

Whitney tells her little sister to stop seeing the dodgy lad, so Tiff lies and claims she's already been dumped. Whit isn't buying it, though, and asks Bernie to try to split the pair up. Bernie also knows that Jagger isn't good news, but when she badmouths him to Tiff, her mate is offended.

Bernie then tries to make amends with Tiffany, but ends up being humiliated when her pal invites her to hang out with Jagger and his gang. Can Bernie make Tiff see sense about her bloke?

Family in crisis!

HOLBY CITY
BBC1 TUESDAY

Xavier's past is further unveiled this week, as his Grandad Reg is admitted on to AAU – but how will Xav react to his arrival?

Reg turns up at the hospital after tripping over while visiting the grave of Xav's late brother on the anniversary of his death – which Xav recently told Nicky that his family blames him for.

However, as concerned Donna begins to question her colleague when Xavier's other brother, Alex, arrives on the unit, will the uncomfortable medic want to open up?

Honey's fears

Is new boyfriend Adam simply too clever for her?

EASTENDERS
BBC1 FRIDAY

Honey worries that her fledgling romance with dentist Adam is doomed this week – believing she's not intelligent enough for him!

Honey's concerns grow after Adam returns from his trip abroad and brings her back a thoughtful gift – a beautiful book about art. It's not quite what Honey was expecting, though, and Billy later finds her furiously researching the topic so she can impress her new fella with her inner art critic.

As Billy questions what she's up to, Honey is forced to admit that she's worried Adam will think she's stupid! Billy can't bear to see his ex-wife feeling so glum, so lifts her spirits by offering her some glowing compliments – but his words lead Honey to make a big decision about Adam...

Meanwhile, Mel warns Billy that it's time to finally move on from Honey, before he ends up with a broken heart! Will Billy heed her advice?

Russ pays Jack to spy on Sylver and Mercedes this week, after suspecting that they're having an affair!

Jack tells Russ he saw Sylver and Mercedes almost kissing the previous night, and so Russ convinces Jack to go undercover. However, Jack's sleuthing doesn't quite go to plan after Sylver catches him breaking into his workshop. Somehow, Jack talks his way out and steals Sylver's phone.

Will he find anything? Or is Sylver innocent?

Mother of all shocks!

Jacob's stunned to see mum Omo in the ED...

CASUALTY
BBC1 SATURDAY

Jacob's work life and personal life collide in dramatic fashion this week, as his mum Omo is brought into the hospital!

Omo is enjoying a day out with her grandson Blake when she suddenly becomes agitated, forcing Blake to call 999 and get her some medical help. After Omo arrives at the hospital, Jacob is stunned to see her following so many years of estrangement, and admits to Elle that his mother suffers from schizophrenia.

While Jacob opens up to Elle about his mum's condition, Omo is getting more and more distressed – with the voices in her head becoming louder. But after Jacob and Elle leave her unattended, they're shocked to find Omo in the middle of the ED with blood dripping from her arm, having pulled out her cannula!

Can Jacob calm Omo before she seriously hurts herself?

Channel 5 TUESDAY

Pavan gets back in touch with Mishti this week – and officially calls off their engagement!

He tells Mishti that Dipi called him, and that he's also found out about the sex video she'd kept secret from him.

Mishti blames Dipi for the breakdown of her relationship, convinced that her meddling sister has warned off Pavan, as well as sending him the video. She also accuses Dipi for being against the arranged marriage from the start, and doing her best to sabotage it!

Will the sisters be able to get back on track after this?

LEADING A MERRY DANCY

I felt so sorry for Nancy in Hollyoaks when she found out Darren had cheated on her! Jessica Fox played a blinder in the role, and I'm so glad Nancy stood firm and decided not to take her cheating hubby back. I have so much more sympathy for her than I do for Mandy or Luke!

📧 | Isabella, Watford

NO CHARITY CASE

Could someone please give Charity Dingle a kick up the backside? She's not the only Emmerdale character to have had a rough time, but she has been wallowing in self-pity for ages. What she really needs now is a stiff dose of tough love, not the entire contents of the Woolpack's wine cellar.

📧 | Mary

I don't think the rest of the Dingles will let her wallow in self-pity for too much longer.

of my favourite characters! It's like they've just rolled out every prison cliché they can think of. I don't believe for one minute that Mick would behave like that, anyway.

📧 | Shelley, Bournemouth

It's no Wentworth Prison, is it?

Mick's Thunderbirds costume most definitely needs some work

JIM'LL FIX IT

I would love to see Jim Robinson back in Neighbours after a 25-year absence – even if it's just as a ghost or a twin brother, I don't care. I love actor Alan Dale, and going back to his Aussie soap roots would be amazing for the fans.

📧 | Dawn, Derbyshire

Old Jim would be turning in his grave if he could see the things Paul had been up to recently!

TREASURE HUNTER

I was really sad to see Hunter leaving Home and Away. I'll admit I wasn't really a fan of him when he first arrived in the Bay with his wicked mum Charlotte, but he's grown up so much since he's been living at the caravan park with Leah. I hope that the writers can find something interesting for Leah to do now she has no kids left to look after!

📧 | Maria
Leah needs a new love interest – and one who won't cheat on her!

Steve exclusively wears bad shirts and this expression

STEVE IT OUT!

I always knew that Steve from Corrie was a bit slow on the uptake, but I didn't realise he was completely brainless! How could he ever think that Tracy would give him a 'free pass' to sleep with someone else? It's just more proof that this wedding is doomed!

👤 | Monique

Turn to p4 for all the gossip on Steve and Tracy's big day!

MAD FOR DR CAV

It's hilarious how everyone in Emmerdale has a crush on Dr Cavanagh – even Marlon seems to fancy him! Not that I can blame him, the good doc is quite a dish. It seems Diane has taken a real shine to him, so Bernice could have competition from her mum for his affections!

👤 | Jonathan

That's one Dales love triangle I would love to see!

NO SPARK FOR SHAZ

I've tried, I honestly have – but I can't take Sharon and Keanu's so called 'steamy fling' in EastEnders seriously.

There is absolutely zero chemistry between them. All the saucy dialogue in the world will never make this pairing believable!

👤 | Becca

I've actually been enjoying seeing Sharon having a bit of fun for once – she really deserves it!

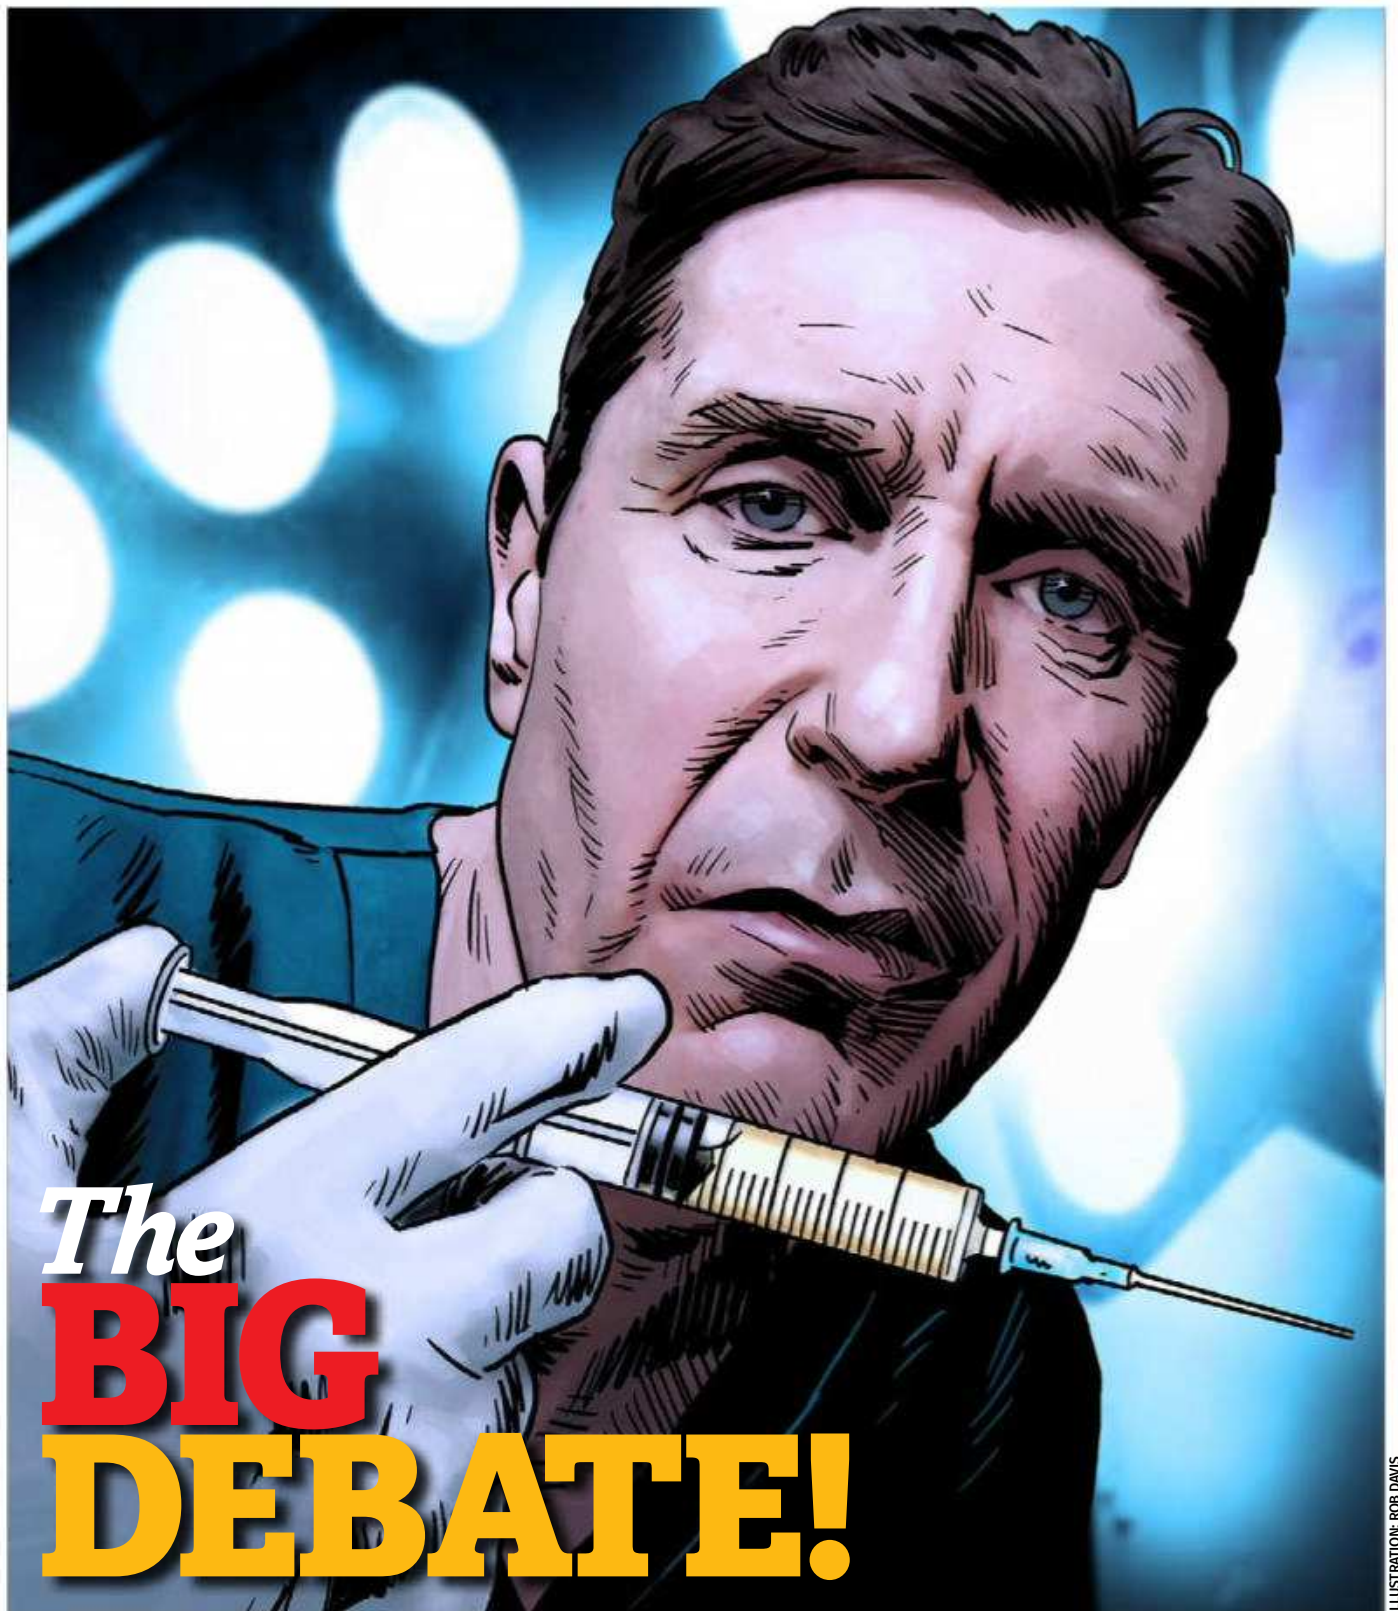

ILLUSTRATION: ROB DAVIS

GASKELL KILLS ROXANNA!

Doctors are meant to save lives, not end them – so imagine our shock when wicked doctor Gaskell administered a lethal dose to Roxanna in Holby! And we weren't alone in our outrage...

The moment that Gaskell cold-heartedly murdered his so-called friend Roxanna was one of the most chilling scenes I've seen on TV this year! It's a shame he's not eligible to be nominated in the Best Villain category at the Inside Soap Awards, as he would win hands down!

👤 | Rose

Professor Gaskell makes my blood boil! He's got such a god complex, thinking that he's in charge of whether people live or die! I really hope Hanssen cottons on to what he's up to soon, before he ruins any more lives.

👤 | Sandra, Glasgow

How can Professor Gaskell be allowed to practise as a medic any more? He's messed up so many times! Please don't let him kill anyone else!

👤 | Olly, London

While Gaskell was wickedly plotting how to off Roxanna, I'm glad that Hanssen never gave up on her. I know he's had his good and bad times in the hospital, but he really is a decent doctor – he'd never kill a friend in cold blood like horrible Gaskell did!

👤 | Alice

Some of you think Roxanna could have saved herself...

Being locked in but conscious of all that was going on around her must have been the worst way for Roxanna to die. But why when she was spelling out words for Essie, did she try to spell 'Professor'? She should have just spelled out 'Gaskell'!

👤 | Margaret

I think whatever she tried to spell out, nasty Gaskell would have rumbled her!

POPPY LOVE

I really love Toyah's style in Corrie, and recently she was wearing a gorgeous floaty blouse with poppies on. Could you tell me where it's from, please?

Toyah often looks the flower of the flock on the Street

YOUR TRICKIEST SOAP QUERIES ANSWERED...

While Ash isn't a diva, he will only play parts where he has some authority

COP FOR THAT

Like everybody else, I was absolutely gripped by the BBC drama Bodyguard, and I'm sure I recognise the main detective who was looking into Julia's murder, Deepak. Has he been in a soap before?

📧 | Sammy

Actor Ash Tandon has been appearing in Corrie as cop Sam Daullah on and off since 2002! He arrived to investigate the disappearance of Patricia Hillman, and was also involved in Callum Logan's murder case. He's just popped up on the cobbles again following the sudden death of Ryan's new pal, Cormac Truman.

THE BIG interview

“This was the right time for Kim to come back!”

AS SHE MAKES HER RETURN TO THE DALES, INSIDE SOAP COULDN'T BE HAPPIER – AND STAR CLAIRE KING IS DELIGHTED, TOO...

EMMERDALE | ITV MONDAY

From the moment Kim Tate boarded that helicopter back in January 1999, in a typically dramatic bid to evade justice, her loyal fans have been desperate for their Queen of the Dales to return to the scene of her many crimes.

This week, almost two decades later, those dreams are finally about to come true. The bitch is back, as formidable and fascinating as she ever was – and Inside Soap is thrilled to have Claire King, who's been playing the first lady of Emmerdale since 1989, on the phone again...

We're so excited about Kim's return, Claire – have you been enjoying all the speculation?

Oh yes! I knew about it for quite a while and wasn't able to say anything, so half my friends have stopped talking to me! When the teaser trailer first aired, you couldn't see it was me – it was quite good having the mask. But once the mask was removed, it all went berserk.

It's a question that's come up a lot over the years: 'When is Kim Tate coming back?'

Fans have always asked me whether I'd go back to Emmerdale. It's something that's been discussed ever since I left 20 years ago. But it felt like now the time was right. It would have been a bit random before, but with Joe Tate being in the village, there's a link. So it's slotted in well.

What did it mean to you that people were so desperate to have Kim back in the Dales?

Well, obviously it's really flattering. When I first started on the show there were no mobile phones, let alone social media – so the night of the big reveal was overload for me! I couldn't keep up with everything. But it was all so lovely – it's good to be back, albeit for a short time.

How did it feel playing Kim again after all this time?

Like putting on an old pair of riding boots! It's been 20 years but it's amazing, time flies – so it was just like Fostering friendship: Graham and Kim have been in cahoots all along!

Champagne reception:
Kim is back – which means trouble isn't far behind!

stepping back into a comfortable pair of shoes, really. Or not so comfortable, as the case may be, in four-inch stilettos, and driving an Aston Martin...

How was it filming Kim's fall stunt?

It was a stunt girl who fell into the glasses of champagne. I literally had to drop from the balcony – 10 feet up – on to crash mats and boxes. We did it in one take, so I didn't get too many bruises! I don't mind those sorts of things – I was going to train for my stunt card before I started at Emmerdale the first time around.

Has Kim changed much, since we last saw her?

I guess she has, but not for the better! Being in prison has hardened her, and obviously she's aged. She's probably even more blinkered and narrow-minded about getting what she wants. She'd trample over anyone now, to get her own way.

Have you always enjoyed saying all the outrageous stuff Kim comes out with?

Oh, it's far more fun playing bitchy characters. I don't think I'd be cast as a downtrodden or mousy type person. I think the bitchy parts are so well written because you're allowed to be a bigger character, a bit more camp, a bit more out there, and get away with saying things that the average person would really like to say but can't.

What was it like stepping back on to the Home Farm set again?

It was bizarre at first, as a lot of the team – and the studio – are new, so it was like being in a new job. But as soon as I was filming scenes on the Home Farm exterior, on location, Kim Tate was back – standing proud with a smirk on her face! It all fluttered in then.

The Home Farm interiors have probably changed a bit...

It was all dressed for Home Farm's ball, so there were lots of masks hanging down and black sparkly curtains and champagne fountains everywhere. It looked spectacular and has certainly been modernised since my day!

How many of your former co-stars are still on the show?

There's Chris Chittell, who plays Pollard. And Steve Halliwell and Jane Cox [Zak and Lisa Dingle], but I didn't get to see them as we weren't filming on the same sets. I'd not worked with Andrew Scarborough [Graham] before, but we absolutely clicked and had a laugh. We're both from Harrogate and knew a lot of the same people. He really looked after me – he was lovely.

You're back for a week this time – would you ever return full-time?

I don't know. I'm off to Stockport to do panto this Christmas – I'm playing a wicked fairy in Sleeping Beauty. And I've got a film coming out in October called King Of Crime. I've been doing a few independent films which is really good. I've also got a theatre tour next year, and it's nice being able to do theatre, film and television, and have a little change. I'm lucky, at my age!

Allison Jones

Long live THE QUEEN!

Claire remembers how the Dales were rarely quiet with Mrs Tate in the big house...

Tate takeover 1989

Kim moves into Home Farm with husband Frank and his kids Chris and Zoe – and life is good, for a while...

"The whole family was happy," says Claire. "Kim was supposed to be a bit Londonish, but I quickly made her slightly Yorkshire. She was very prim and proper, though!"

The first affair 1992

After Kim miscarries Frank's child, he hits the bottle and neglects his wife. She seeks comfort from family friend and fellow horse-lover Neil Kincaid – and when Frank finds out, he demands divorce...

"I think the viewers saw that coming – soaps always have to have affairs!" chuckles Claire. "It was great for me, although I knew people would take Frank's side. I got hit on the head with an umbrella in Marks and Sparks!"

If the Glover fits 1995

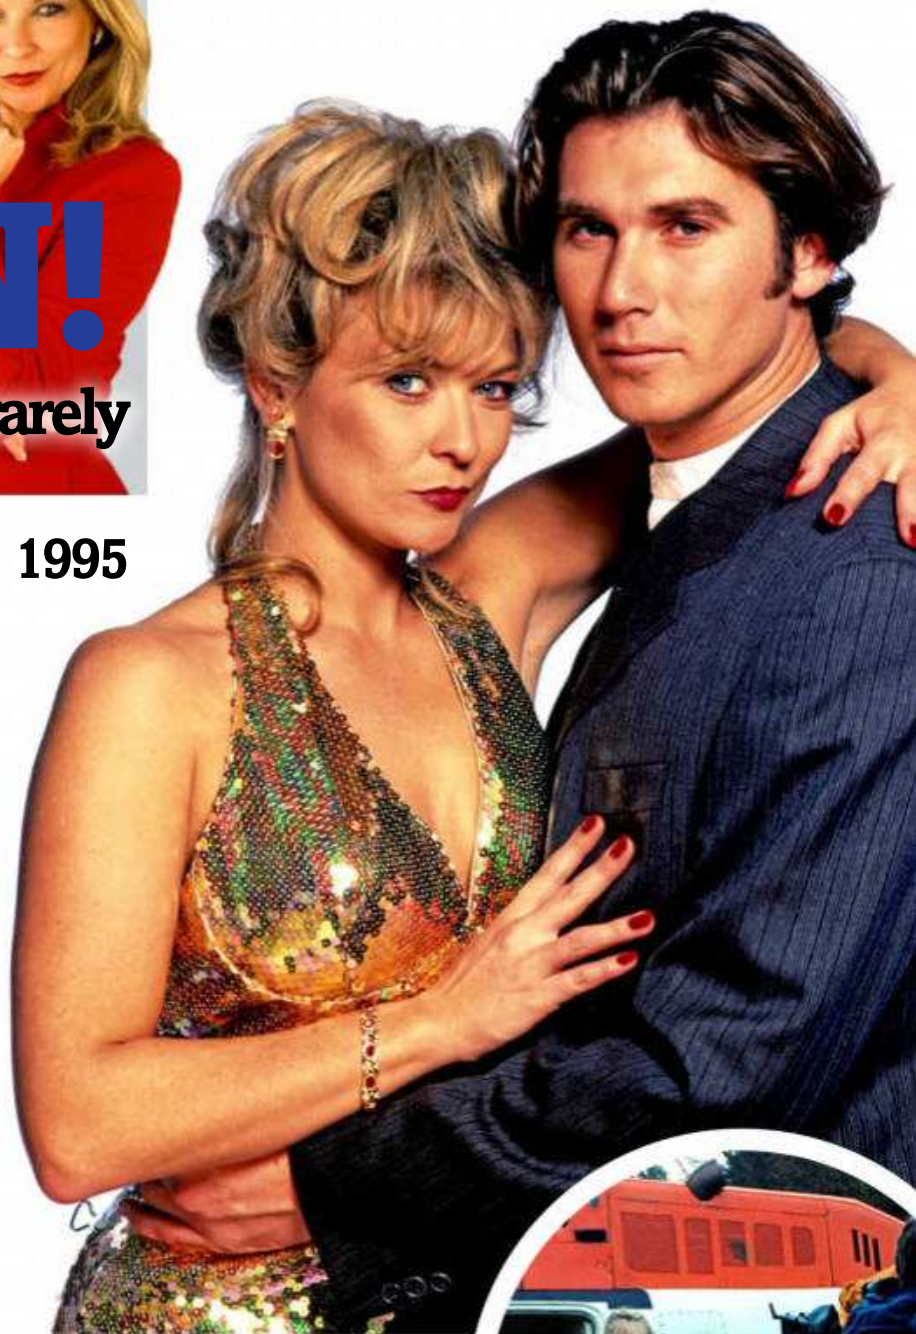

Frank and Kim remarry soon after the plane crash of 1993, but then Kim starts a new affair with handsome farmhand Dave Glover. She has his son, James – though even after Frank pays her a million pounds to dump Dave and name him as James' father, she and Dave reunite. They plan to run away, but after a fire breaks out at Home Farm, Dave is killed trying to rescue James from the blaze.

"That love triangle was one of my favourite storylines," reveals Claire. "It gave Kim more than one dimension, and showed how she could actually care for somebody. She really did love Dave Glover!"

Back from the dead 1997

The year after Dave's death, Kim disappears – and Frank identifies a woman found dead at the wheel of her car as his wife. But Kim returns to the village alive and well just months later, the shock of which prompts Frank to suffer a fatal heart attack. "I was leaving the show, so Kim was really meant to be dead – but two weeks later they asked me back for a Christmas thing, so the story was rewritten and I was resurrected!" shares Claire. "That scene after Frank's heart attack, where Kim checks he's not breathing with her compact mirror was full-on camp! It really worked."

Sky's the limit 1999

When Kim's new husband Steve Marchant runs over Kathy Glover while stealing a horse, she sets him right up – insinuating she had no part of the theft and that Steve left Kathy to die. The police are soon on Kim's trail in any case, but she escapes before charges can be brought – taking off in a helicopter...

"I loved that," beams Claire. "They gave me a really good exit. It was off the back of three days of non-stop scenes in the studio, but then I spent half the day flying around in the helicopter!"

“Does Leanne love Steve? Nah, it was just too much booze!”

AS ALL HELL BREAKS LOOSE AT THE McDONALD WEDDING, JANE DANSON TELLS US WHY LEANNE KEEPS GETTING HERSELF INTO TROUBLE WITH BOYS...

It's been a real treat to have the 'bad' Leanne Battersby back on the Street in recent months. For so long, Leanne has been forced into the nagging wife-and-mother role by the troublesome blokes in her life – but now, she's flirty, sassy and up to mischief, and we love it! The problem with being naughty, though, is that you must be careful who you cross – and Leanne has been very careless indeed.

Right now, she's trying to hide her secret night of passion with Steve from his bride-to-be Tracy, a woman who has killed before. As we sit down for a chat with Jane Danson, who plays Leanne, our first question is: has her alter ego gone crazy?

"Well, what happens is every now and then 16-year-old Leanne Battersby gets out – and that Leanne is mad!" laughs the star, who plays the Corrie favourite. "I love that they've kept that continuity, and it's really fun to play. With Steve that night, she'd just had one too many drinks..."

It doesn't matter if they'd sunk a whole brewery – because Tracy is going to hit the roof no matter what. And why did Leanne even bother? After all, Steve may be the father of her baby boy Oliver, but they've tried to be a couple, and the spark was distinctly lacking in that department.

"Steve and Leanne are more like friends, really, though every time they have a drink they do... that!" admits Jane. "The night it happened, she was supposed to be going out, yet got stood up. So she went to the Rovers feeling a bit down, and Steve gave her loads of back-handed compliments, and then they left together. She does immediately think, 'What have I done? This is a big mistake!' Especially because of Steve and his super-sperm – getting pregnant again would be a nightmare!"

Although Leanne is kicking herself for bunking up with Steve again, Jane was delighted to share more screen time with her colleague Simon Gregson, who plays the McDonald muppet.

"I can't look at Simon because although he's unaware of how funny he is, he'll give me a little twinkle in his eye, and I'll have to make my eyes go out of focus – so I don't laugh!" shares the actress. "Simon's so lovely to work with, he's such an unassuming guy and doesn't realise how brilliant he is. It's endearing!"

Steve's wedding day this week is going to be deeply uncomfortable for Leanne – who has no love for Tracy, yet fears the truth getting out. But if there is a catfight, Jane reckons it would be evenly matched.

"They're both scrappy, aren't they? Although Tracy has killed, I suppose," teases the star. "They've always hated each other. Tracy is just Tracy – she irritates everybody, and Leanne is simply not having any of it. I love that they've built so many layers over the years because Tracy hates the fact Steve has a child with Leanne, as well as all the Barlow stuff from when she was married to Peter. There's a massive chance that Tracy is going to find out about this – and if she does, the poop is going to hit the fan!"

It'll be fun to see what happens, and Jane says Leanne will never stop getting into scrapes, no matter how old she gets.

"Leanne's an eternal teenager inside – she just had to mature because of her kids," she laughs. "So she does things like this and then thinks, 'Oh God, I shouldn't be doing this at my age!' But she will. And it's so much fun for me!"

Kate White

If Tracy finds out about this, the poop will hit the fan!

Not on the same page!

Even if Leanne hadn't slept with Steve (again!), the wedding was always set to be troublesome. As the ceremony approaches, Tracy's plans of a dream occasion have seen her at loggerheads with Leanne over little Oliver, who's a pageboy. But as Jane tells us, there's a lot of fun to be had as Steve's ladies clash...

"Tracy did this whole thing about little Oliver's outfit and what she wanted him to look like," she reminds us. "Leanne said, 'No! He is not wearing that!'," and Tracy went, 'He is!' It's the sort of thing that in real life would be awful, but here it's quite humorous.

"Tracy has ideas above her station," continues Jane. "She wants this high-society bash wedding – while the reality is, she's getting married down the road in a three-star hotel function room. But Tracy sees it as some kind of huge castle event!"

Close to one's chest: When alcohol is involved, Leanne and Steve get steamy!

Meet Martine:
Simone's sister makes a memorable entrance

"Martine's not a bitch... she's so much worse!"

ETERNAL STAR KÉLLÉ BRYAN IS DELIGHTED TO BE JOINING THE CAST OF HOLLYOAKS...

I'm very happy now that the cat's finally out of the bag!" giggles former pop star Kéllé Bryan, as we chat to her about landing her first big acting role on Hollyoaks. "I actually started filming here in July, so it's been difficult keeping it quiet. One time, I was on the train home from Liverpool and I didn't know I still had my work pass on – someone asked me for a selfie, and when I realised I still had my lanyard round my neck I had to ask if we could take the picture again!"

The secret is well and truly out in the open now – Kéllé arrives on our screens this week as Martine, the younger sister of village resident Simone. And she makes quite an entrance!

"My first scene is me turning up on the doorstep, and dropping a huge bombshell!" she teases. "Martine is incredibly impulsive and driven, she's fearless, and goes with her gut instinct. She much more free-spirited than Simone."

I was a child actor, and did things like The Bill and EastEnders!

"Would I call Martine a soap bitch?" ponders Kéllé. "I think I'd use a much stronger word than that! She says and does things that I would never dream of doing in real life. I definitely wouldn't be friends with her!"

Kéllé may be best known to the viewers as one-quarter of 1990s girl group Eternal – who recently celebrated their 25th anniversary – but she tells us that acting was always her first love.

"Most people don't know this, but before I was in Eternal, I was a child actor, and I did things like The Bill and EastEnders," explains the former singer. "Acting was always my strong point. I never really rated myself as a singer – that was just my fall-back plan. When Eternal came along, I just thought it would be four girls having a bit of a sing-song. We didn't know we'd become as big as we did!"

Fast-forward 25 years, and Kéllé's finally getting to live out her acting dream as feisty Martine. And despite having found fame around the world as a pop star, she admits that starting a new job is still as terrifying for her as it would be for anyone else.

"A new job is the same for anybody – you still don't know anyone or anything when you first start," says Kéllé. "I'm completely green! Just today, we were filming a take, and I thought it was just a rehearsal until someone shouted 'Cut!' I'm messing up and doing lots of silly things, but that's just what you do in a new job."

Luckily for Kéllé, she's had a few old pals on set to help her out.

"I did The Big Reunion with Adam [Rickitt, who plays Kyle]," she reminds us. "So when we met on set, we were laughing and joking in the make-up chairs, sharing old memories about everything we did on that show."

"Everyone I've spoken to from the cast has told me that I'm going to have the best time, and that everyone here is lovely," adds Kéllé. "I was like, 'Yeah, okay, whatever'. But I've been here three months now, and I can honestly say that everyone is lovely – and I'm having the best time ever!"

Home and Away star Patrick O'Connor tells us that Dean's not ready for prison...

Dean's life could be about to change forever this week, as he faces the prospect of going back to jail! Star Patrick O'Connor reveals how his alter ego feels about the possibility of doing time again...

Hey, Patrick! How worried is Dean about going to prison?

To everyone else in the Bay, Dean may seem pretty relaxed and fine with the idea of going back to jail. However, having been there before, he knows exactly what's waiting for him, and it's the last thing that he wants right now.

Why does he call his mum before the trial?

When Dean went to jail the first time around, after the car crash with Colby, it was a horrible experience for him – and his mum didn't speak to him throughout his time in jail. He wants to let her know that he could be going back. Also she's the only person at this stage who Dean feels comfortable being honest with. But it doesn't go well – she hangs up on him.

Call to arms: Chelsea and her cop friend take Dean to the police station

Water fool: Willow decides that Dean needs a wash

We have photos of Dean being pushed off the pier – what happens?

He's being given some tough love by Willow for not acting like an adult on the day of the trial. Those scenes were super-funny to film. We had to get it in one take, because once I was pushed in, I had to dry off and change clothes.

What do viewers think of Dean?

I think they may have a soft spot for Dean – all of his actions come from a place of love and protection for Willow. Although Dean is a smartass with a bit of attitude, he's still a little boy inside just wanting to find his place in the Bay.

Is he someone you would be mates with in real life?

Maybe. I love Dean as a person, but as a mate I think he might get me into trouble! A few beers down the pub couldn't hurt, though...

Game for a laugh

AS A TRIO OF COMEDY LEGENDS ARRIVES IN LETHERBRIDGE, A CRAZY LOVE TRIANGLE IS SET TO CAUSE CHAOS...

Dr Sid is in for a treat this week, after he's called to a local sheltered housing unit to visit Ronnie – played by Chuckle Brother Paul Elliott – and check out his gallbladder. But Ronnie's medical issues are the least of his problems, as he's embroiled in flings with his neighbours Mary and Jean – played by Hi-De-Hi! stars Su Pollard and Ruth Madoc! We found out more from the hilarious guest stars themselves...

SU POLLARD MARY DUNLOP

Welcome to Doctors, Su! Can you tell us a little bit about Mary?

Well, me and my old mate Ruth [who plays Jean] are vying for the attentions of this chap called Ronnie – played by another old friend of ours, Paul Chuckle! Ronnie thinks he's dying, but is he? It's fabulous! The three of us go back a long way, so it's been such good fun to be together.

Tell us about Mary's costume...

It represents a Greenham Common lady – they were women protesting against nuclear weapons in the 1980s. Mary is a free spirit who wears pantaloons and bright Doc Martens. Mary's probably not much removed from Su, to be honest!

It's your first time on Doctors – what do you make of the show?

It was really nice to be asked. It's a thing off the list, I've done Doctors! Everyone here is excellent – although I'm hardly likely to say they're the biggest bunch of swines, am I? We've had a great welcome!

Hi-De-Hi!* was a huge BBC comedy – do you mind being asked about it?

No! We were really fortunate to get into a great show like that. We had such good material to work with. We learned how to be disciplined, but also how to have fun. The guys at Doctors know the same feeling – it's a fabulous bonus!

No chuckling matter: Cheating Ronnie is caught out

RUTH MADOC

JEAN MARCH

Hello Ruth! We understand that you're a big fan of Doctors?

I am! I watch it and I think it's lovely. I love how the stories go on for about three or four episodes, and I'm sure the viewers like that too. Sometimes I miss out on storylines if I'm working – but I've been catching up from Lorna [Laidlaw, who plays Mrs Tembe] today!

You have guest-starred in the show once before, haven't you?

Yes – I was in it about three years ago, playing a woman with Alzheimer's Disease. So this is very different, and very joyous. Not that the other role wasn't joyous to play, but we've had quite a few laughs doing this one. Mary and Jean really play Ronnie along, and there's quite a bit of comedy...

Do you still enjoy working now that you're into your seventies?

I do! I'm going out on a long tour for [Take That star] Gary Barlow, who's written the music for Calendar Girls. I'm doing that for 60 weeks – at my age, don't laugh! I'm really looking forward to that.

Hi-de-who?: Stars Su and Ruth back in the day

How have you found it being reunited with Su again after all these years?

Well, we've not worked together since Hi-De-Hi!. We've always kept in touch, and have done a lot of interview programmes together, so it's been a joy to have roles together again. I don't know what the rest of the cast have thought – we've had a few laughs, I have to admit!

Allison Jones

"I want to come back as a senior consultant!"

Paul Chuckle (Ronnie) hopes his first Doctors role won't be his last...

"I'm absolutely loving Doctors!" beams Paul, who sadly lost his brother and comedy partner, Barry, earlier this year. "I'm obviously better known as a Chuckle Brother – not to me, to you! – but I'm hoping Doctors fans will love our episode. I've never done the show before, and they're a great crowd of people here. I think I should come back as a senior consultant. I'd put everyone right!"

Mums and their chums!

THREE WEATHERFIELD WOMEN HIT THE TOWN WITH THEIR YOUNGER COUNTERPARTS...

It was the cobbles ladies and their mini-me kids at the Manchester press launch of the musical Matilda last week – as the mums and their daughters dressed to impress at the Palace Theatre. We don't know who looked the most stylish – the cool Corrie mums or their even-cooler offspring! As

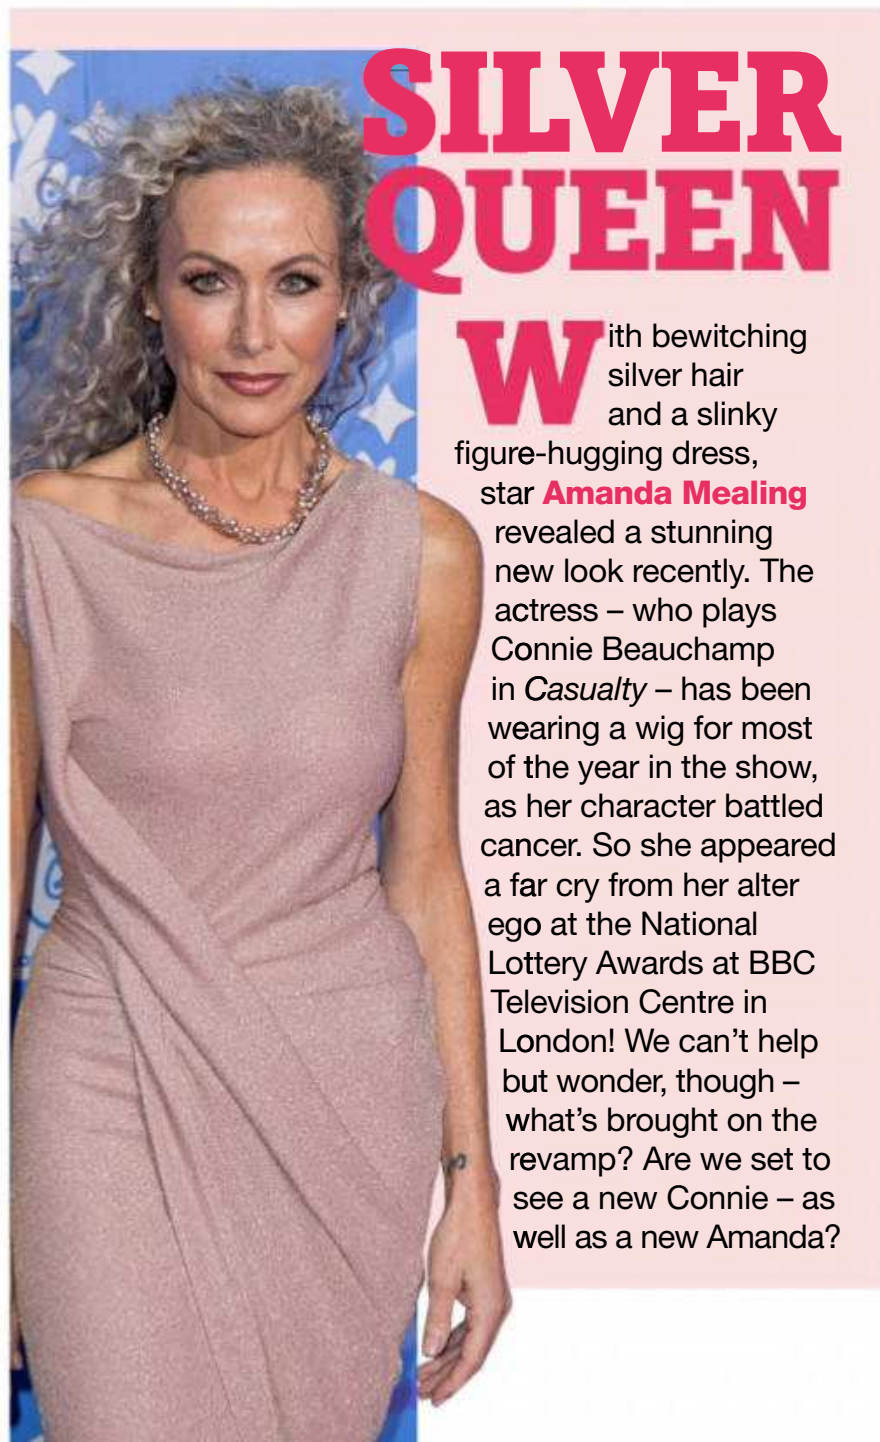

Kym Marsh (Michelle) rocked the plaid look, her seven-year-old daughter Polly looked super-cute in her bow. Giving them a run for their money was Samia Longchambon (Maria) in a leopard-print dress, while eight-year-old Freya rocked velvet – but the pair both wore matching grins! And Tina O'Brien (Sarah) was pipped to the post in the style stakes by little Scarlett, who at the tender age of nine has already had success as a model for kids' clothes – and certainly knows how to work the red carpet! "I'm so proud of everything that Scarlett has achieved," says mum Tina. Aww!

DANNY'S BOYS!

While the girls hit the town for Matilda in the north, it was a boys' night out in the south – as EastEnders star Danny Dyer (Mick) escaped the confines of Dickens Hill Prison and reunited with his former on-screen sons Ted Reilly (Johnny) and Danny-Boy Hatchard (Lee). Papped on the red carpet when they attended the Paul Strank Charitable Trust Annual Gala at the Bank Of England Club in Roehampton, the trio showed that the Carter bond is as strong as ever. With Danny confirmed to be starring in a reality show with his Love Island-winning daughter Dani, might Ted and Danny-Boy be making a cameo appearance?

SILVER QUEEN

With bewitching silver hair and a slinky figure-hugging dress, star Amanda Mealing revealed a stunning new look recently. The actress – who plays Connie Beauchamp in Casualty – has been wearing a wig for most of the year in the show, as her character battled cancer. So she appeared a far cry from her alter ego at the National Lottery Awards at BBC Television Centre in London! We can't help but wonder, though – what's brought on the revamp? Are we set to see a new Connie – as well as a new Amanda?

I need a HERO!

Blast from the past

“People often ask me when Eddie’s coming back!”

Former Corrie star Steve Huison tells us that he has no plans to return to the cobbles right now...

The last time we saw layabout Eddie Windass, he was leaving his partner Anna, and heading off to Germany to start a new job. But when we catch up with former Corrie star Steve Huison – who played the lazy fella – and ask him what he reckons Eddie might be doing these days, he says it was a miracle Mr Windass ever found employment in the first place...

“I thought it was a bit implausible that he’d gone abroad to graft when he was work-shy!” he chuckles. “I can’t imagine that he’s holding down a job still – maybe that’s a story in itself! Wherever he is now, though, his hair might have fallen out a bit more.”

The cobbles are a dim and distant memory for Steve, who said goodbye to Corrie back in 2011. And although his screen family has been at the heart of the drama recently – most notably when Anna faced off against serial killer Pat Phelan – Steve admits he doesn’t keep up with the goings-on in Weatherfield any more.

“No, I don’t tune in – and funnily enough I’ve no idea what happened to Anna!” he tells us. “Would

I ever go back? That depends. If they got in touch and I was free, and the storylines were interesting, then I’d never turn down work. But it depends on what else is going on in my life.”

Right now, Steve’s far too busy to head back to soapland, as he’s just kicked off a nationwide tour of the play, They Don’t Pay? We Won’t Pay! at York’s Theatre Royal. And although the play was originally written in the 70s, Steve reckons it’s still very appropriate for modern-day audiences.

“It’s about inflation skyrocketing, so people can’t afford the food in shops any more,” he explains. “I actually first saw this play 35 years ago, when I was a student, and it had me falling about laughing! The good thing about it is having licence to update it with whatever’s pertinent.”

While our readers may recognise Steve from his Corrie days, he tells us that it’s another role he gets asked about more when people approach him on tour.

“I don’t get recognised as Eddie very much,” admits the actor, who also teaches portrait drawing. “Sometimes people come up and ask me when he’s coming back, but I have no idea! I tend to get recognised more for The Full Monty [Steve played Lomper] than I do for Corrie. I can tell when the film has been on TV, as I’ll get recognised for a few days afterwards!”

DOCTOR WHO | BBC1 SUNDAY

APPOINTMENT WITH THE DOCTOR

JODIE WHITTAKER IS IN THE TARDIS – AND SHE'S READY FOR ACTION...

We'll always remember where we were on that historic day: 16 July 2017, watching the Wimbledon men's singles final in the comfort of our living room, when the reveal came that the 13th version of the Doctor would be played by Jodie Whittaker – the first woman to play the role in 55 years.

In the year-and-a-bit since then, there's been all sorts of speculation about what the first female incarnation of the role would be like, but this weekend we'll finally get some answers as the Doctor crash lands in Sheffield, of all places, and is of course thrust straight into the middle of an extra-terrestrial threat. So, how has Jodie been coping with the pressure since the news first came out?

"On the first day of shooting when you complete your first take, that's when you go, 'Okay, this is it and I can do it'," reveals Jodie, speaking at the premiere of the first episode at Sheffield's Light Cinema. "Watching it on a big screen, with Chris [Chibnall, showrunner] and everyone, it's really emotional. You've got to embrace the celebration of all this hard work going into it. There's no getting away from it – we are the next season of Doctor Who!"

The opening episode picks up not long after the Doctor's regeneration, where she's still recovering and getting used to her new body – not to mention still wearing her predecessor's tattered old outfit.

"The thing that was really helpful about episode one is being in Peter [Capaldi]'s costume for 95 per cent of it," shares Jodie. "I was literally in someone else's shoes, so I felt as if I was continually trying to discover things and, I suppose, settle in. I really love the euphoria of the scene where the Doctor finds what she wants to wear – from that moment onwards, I personally felt like I could get into my own skin."

We've been sworn to secrecy about a lot of the plot, but we can reveal that Jodie quickly establishes herself as an action hero – she even does her own stunts.

"In episode one, that's all me – I'm really proud of that!" she grins. "There are a couple of moments in the series where it was not deemed appropriate that I chucked myself out of somewhere. This needed someone who was daft enough, and I absolutely bricked it!

"I was trying to be really cool in front of the crew," recalls Jodie. "But actually it was amazing – the wonderful thing about the Doctor is that it's all about self-belief. It was nerve-wracking, and it's not something you do every day – but I love the pride in watching it knowing that I did do it all!"

"I LOVE THE PRIDE IN WATCHING IT KNOWING THAT I DID DO IT ALL!"

Age Before Beauty

The newest drama I've been watching is Age Before Beauty on BBC1. It has love, hate, anger, all of the emotions. I like Love Island as well, but I don't know if that counts as a drama!

I don't think I have an absolute favourite film because it depends on my mood, but the one I keep going back to is Pretty Woman – a classic love story, a Cinderella storyline, and I can watch it over and over again and I still find something new in it. I think with age, I can relate to something different every time. I adore The Notebook as well.

Growing up, Home And Away and Neighbours were always something that we watched, they were just always on in our house. As we got a little bit older, I started watching things like

Pretty Woman

Dawson's Creek – it was my choice to watch that, rather than the family! And when I got older than that, Sex And The City was definitely up there for me – I still watch that now, actually.

If I could be in any other show, I'd like to do something along the lines of Gok Wan's How To Look Good Naked, but about how to look good for a date. I get asked that all the time, and I don't think there's a right or wrong answer, but you could definitely be guided. I would get to talk to people about their lives, why they're feeling a little bit insecure, and give them the best outfits that they'd then feel most comfortable and confident in!

DESIREE AKHAVAN AND MAXINE PEAKE STAR IN A COMEDY ABOUT COMING OUT FOR THE SECOND TIME...

Dating is complicated, that much is a given. But when you're dating both men and women, does that make things easier – or do you just end up with the worst of both worlds? In this new comedy, Desiree Akhavan (who also co-wrote and directs the show) stars as New Yorker Leila, who has just taken a break from her relationship with her girlfriend of 10 years, Sadie (Maxine Peake). Moving into the spare room of writer Gabe (Brian Gleeson), Leila takes tentative steps into the world of dating men as well as women for the first time – but ultimately struggles to reveal her true feelings to all her old friends...

Why did you want to make this programme?

Desiree I was doing press for my first movie and every time I did anything it was like, “Bisexual Iranian-American filmmaker”, “Bisexual director”, “The bisexual Lena Dunham”. I remember feeling this was such a deeply embarrassing, shameful thing, it was like, “Bed-wetter, Desiree Akhavan!” Then I wondered – well, it's technically true, I am bisexual, why is it such an embarrassing thing? That was the thesis statement: why does this make me uncomfortable?

And what answers did you find from making it?

Desiree You've got to watch to find out! I think there are a lot of reasons: one is that it's not something you can identify and put your finger to. If I'm walking down the street holding a woman's hand we're in a same-sex relationship, if I'm holding a man's hand we're straight. There are a lot of openly bisexual people, and you can't identify them according to whose hand they're holding at that moment. There isn't a face of bisexuality: there's Anne Heche, and that's it. And she's not the best one! You can't break Ellen's heart!

Maxine, what attracted you to the role of Sadie?

Maxine I got an email from Desiree saying, ‘I don't know who you are, but lots of people say you should play Sadie’. I thought, ‘Is she northern? She's very straight to the point and direct!’ I just thought Desiree was possibly one of the coolest people on the planet, and this felt like something really exciting that hadn't been seen on British

“I AM BISEXUAL, WHY IS IT SUCH AN EMBARRASSING THING?” DESIREE

On a mission:
Desiree also directs this new comedy television before. I thought, 'I want to be a part of this.'

What made this right for a TV series and not a film?

Desiree I always knew it was a series because it's like she's on a sexual journey. To me that was the perfect way to handle bisexuality, through the lens of a lesbian, someone who is reverse-coming out. With a film you have half the time to do it, and you have to close it up at the end. This way you can ask a bunch of questions and keep them going.

EILEEN WALSH STARS IN A COMEDY ABOUT PALS FACING THE CHALLENGES OF THIRTYSOMETHING LIFE...

FRIENDS IN NEED

Laura, Katie and Alison have watched everyone they know settle down and find their purpose in life – and yet they seem to be moving farther away from their goals. In this new Dublin-set comedy, the trio try to figure out what they want, and how to get it – or even if they can get it...

"They've all come to a crossroads and decided it's now or never," explains Eileen Walsh, who plays Alison. "They've decided to make some changes, and go for the path where they think happiness lies."

For Alison, that's marriage and children – even if that means getting back together with her ex, Martin, who she previously dumped. He's not Mr Right, but he'll do.

"It's not ideal, and she's totally upfront about it," shares Eileen. "She's like, 'I'm ready, it's not going to be fireworks, but he's mad about me and I just want the ring on the finger and the baby in the belly!'"

Filming sex scenes with someone you've just met must be weird, but Eileen was relieved that she had time to get to know Aaron McCusker (Shameless's Jamie Maguire), who plays Martin, beforehand.

"We were lucky to get a day's rehearsal to bond and get to know each other before having to jump straight in and have sex on camera!" she chuckles. "That's a bit tricky, but he made it very easy because he's got a great sense of humour. We got comfortable very quickly. That was a bit of a relief!"

KILLING EVE | BBC1 9.25PM

All about Eve

Wait! What do you mean you've already binged the entire series of Killing Eve on iPlayer? What is the world coming to when we can't just wait a few days to see what happens next? Fortunately for you, if you've already scoffed the lot, we've picked out something else for you to watch tonight, below.

Now that the binge-watchers have moved on and it's just those of us who are keeping this saved as a Saturday night treat, let's talk about what's going on in episode four. There's a mole at large, which means Eve has to go on her first surveillance operation. She'll have to watch her back though, as Villanelle is sent to England on a mission to kill. Is Eve's time running short?

TROUBLES: THE LIFE AFTER | BBC2 9.30PM

This special documentary film about the Troubles in Northern Ireland makes for difficult viewing. The narrative taken by BAFTA-winning director Brian Hill is to tell the stories of those caught in the crossfire, families that lost loved ones – not the people on either side of the conflict, but ordinary everyday people. Hill, along with first-time director Niamh Kennedy, speaks to many of those people, including Virtue Dixon. She lost her 24-year-old daughter when a bomb caused the ceiling in a pub to collapse. This is a story of triumph over tragedy, and how people dealt with the aftermath.

MY FAVOURITE SKETCH | Gold 10PM

There's some slightly unusual scheduling going on with this Sally Phillips-fronted series: after debuting last night, the second episode airs tonight and then we get the third one on Friday. Clear? As much as can be expected? Excellent. Sally's guest tonight is Jessica Hynes, and handily the two of them first met while working on a sketch show called Six Pairs Of Pants. Will Jessica's faves be from that show? (No.)

LAST CHANCE LAWYER NEW YORK CITY | BBC2 9PM

Power of attorney

This new series was pitched to us as 'the real-life Better Call Saul', and honestly we didn't need much persuading beyond that. The four-parter follows New York criminal defence attorney Howard Greenberg, who believes the state is out to screw over the people, and it's up to him to save them all from the government.

His working week begins with a consultation with Wanda, a former officer with the NYPD who is potentially facing a minimum five-year sentence for unlawfully firing her police-issue handgun after a date went seriously wrong. She's been found guilty by a jury, but Howard is someone who intends to snatch victory from the jaws of defeat, and vows to keep Wanda out of jail.

GREAT CANAL JOURNEYS | Channel 4 8PM

Regional variations

Tim and Pru's exploration of the great canals of the world has been pretty exhaustive, so much so that we're having to stretch the definition of "canal" ever so slightly to incorporate their next route: the River Nile. "You've never played Cleopatra, have you?" jokes Tim. "Well, now's your chance." En route, they get to grips with the secrets of an ancient civilisation, and reveal how some of the world's first canals were used in the building of Egyptian temples. There's also plenty of time for recreation too, as the couple are offered some powerful "Egyptian Viagra" and take part in a moonlit celebration.

FLIGHT OF THE CONCHORDS SPECIAL... | Sky Atlantic 9PM

Earlier this year, the almost award-winning, fourth-most-popular folk duo in New Zealand reunited on stage for the first time since 2009 – and the reviews were great. Tickets were like gold dust, so if you weren't lucky enough to catch it in person, here's a chance to see Jemaine Clement and Bret McKenzie back together, performing new songs as well as old favourites like Inner City Pressure.

KRYPTON | E4 9PM

Tonight's two episodes bring the first season of the sci-fi prequel to a close. Zod and Lyta have come up with a plan to use Doomsday to help stop Brainiac – but when they finally gain access to his vault, they don't find what they expected.

S.W.A.T. | Sky One 9PM

There's a shock in store for Luca tonight when he catches sight of a serial killer who everyone thought was dead. This particular killer was responsible for a death that has haunted Luca for years – and now it's time for payback.

FASHION'S DIRTY SECRETS: STACEY DOOLEY INVESTIGATES | BBC1 9PM

Born to be cheap

Oops. We sat down to watch this documentary that promises to reveal some shocking truths about the fashion industry and didn't think that we were actually going to be to blame for it. Well, not us personally but, we'll be honest, we're not sat here writing this television gold for you in our finest clobber, dear reader. It might come as a shock, but we quite like some cheap clothing.

Stacey Dooley sets off to discover the impact that we're having on the planet by buying so many disposable items of clothing. It may not cross your mind when you pick up a T-shirt for £2 – we know, we've ruined your illusion of us – but the toxic chemicals from the clothing industry are polluting the world that we live in...

DON'T Miss!

OLD PEOPLE'S HOME FOR 4 YEAR OLDS | Channel 4 9PM

Regional variations

The previous series was so successful that this time the experiment is twice as long, with much older pensioners taking part. Will three months be too long for the more mature side of the group, once they're paired with children as young as three? Or will the interactions between the two different age groups – dancing aside – provide valuable information for the research team? Sylvia was born during World War One and gave birth to her first child during the Blitz in World War Two. Imagine being 102 and having to put up with children – hasn't she been through enough already?

THE WALKING DEAD | Fox 9PM

At the end of season eight, we left the survivors in an uncertain place: Rick had followed through with the late lamented Carl's wishes by sparing Negan's life, but the decision to let him live didn't sit well with many members of Rick's group after all the suffering they've endured at Negan's hands. This is set to be Andrew Lincoln's last season playing Rick – could that decision play into his exit?

RICH KIDS GO SKINT | 5STAR 9PM

Another group of privileged young people have a go at part-time poverty in this second series. Up first is well-off Patrick from Hertfordshire, who spends a week living with single mum Katrina in Salford. Will it be an eye-opening experience?

MADE IN CHELSEA | E4 9PM

If, however, you'd much rather watch Rich Kids Remaining Rich, then E4 has got you covered as we head back to SW3 for a brand-new series of love, lust and lunches. And things are very awkward between Liv and Digby...

The Joy of family

WANDERLUST | BBC1 9PM

Suffice to say, Joy and Alan's big decision to open up their marriage has developed in ways that neither one of them planned. Now they're left wondering if this is really what they wanted after all. In tonight's final episode, Joy is doing her best at carrying on as normal and focusing her attention on the kids, with mixed results – Tom's not interested in anything that she has to say, but Naomi isn't opposed to the two of them going for a mother-daughter tattoo session – as long as Joy's paying.

Elsewhere, Joy has a strained encounter with Claire in the fixtures and fittings aisle and, fuelled by a plate of Rita's muffins, she makes a decision...

This year the Bake Off has reminded us that it's unafraid to break ground with new themes such as spice week (though we think they missed a trick by not getting Posh or Scary in as a guest judge), and tonight Paul and Prue set the remaining bakers perhaps their biggest challenge yet. It's vegan week in the tent, which means staple baking ingredients such as eggs, milk and butter are well and truly off the menu. Then again, this is a chance for the bakers to prove just how adventurous and resourceful they are with their vegan-friendly alternatives as the final draws nearer and nearer...

WEEKENDER: BOAT PARTY | ITV2 9PM

Oh blimey – we’ve seen how much havoc they can create on shore, and now they’re off out to sea. Yep, in this new spin-off series, the Weekender crew have been given the run of a fancy yacht, and they’ll be touring the hotspots of Croatia – it’ll be nautical but nice, and it might involve a lot of seamen. Familiar faces Jordan, Imogen and head rep David are back, joined by new reps Charlotte and Jackson.

BURDEN OF TRUTH | Universal 9PM

Season finale klaxon! It would be a huge spoiler if we were to reveal exactly how Joanna manages to overcome a ruling against her and have justice prevail, but all we can say is... You go girl! Can she save Billy and defeat her father, though?

THE GOOD DOCTOR | Sky Witness 9PM

No, this is the other good doctor back on our screens this week, as one of last year’s biggest hits returns. Dr Shaun Murphy’s plans to care for a homeless patient are met with resistance, and Dr Glassman has health issues to overcome.

Cartoon capers

Week two of The Apprentice and we're one contestant down. Only another 15 to go, so a 6am wake-up phone call requesting their presence is inevitable – as is the obligatory first shot of a male contestant in their underwear. Hurrah!

Summoned to the House of Illustration, the two teams must create a comic which has an augmented reality cover, aimed at 8-12 year olds. Sadly, neither group really seems to have the faintest idea about comics... Frank leads the boys, coming across as slightly arrogant, while Khadija's equally a nightmare – to the point where her fellow team mates start to point out her faults. Ouch.

But who will win between the 'cool dude MC monkey' and a boy in outer space?

AM I A MURDERER? | ITV 9PM

ITV's Crime and Punishment season continues with a new and slightly bizarre programme – where someone insists she's murdered someone, yet the police say she's innocent. Janet Holt claims that 40 years ago she killed and buried her business partner after he raped her. During treatment with a psychotherapist, Janet found memories, and confessed. But when police dug up the site where she claimed to have buried the body, they found nothing. A police investigation into Janet revealed she's a convicted fraudster – so is this another trick? She pays a visit to a memory expert to find out...

VOGUE WILLIAMS: FOR LOVE OR MONEY? | W 10PM

Irish model Vogue Williams tackles various issues troubling modern day women in the first of three special documentaries. The dating game has totally changed thanks to all things digital, but Vogue takes a closer look at sugar dating – where rich older men are matched with young attractive women. It doesn't take a genius – or a model – to work out just what's going on here...

MAGIC NUMBERS: HANNAH FRY'S... | BBC4 9PM

Try as you might, you can't escape maths: it underpins just about everything in the world. But where did it all come from? That's a pretty big question, so it's a good thing that the eminent Dr Hannah Fry has three episodes to answer it.

ROB DELANEY'S STAND UP CENTRAL | Comedy Central 10PM

The comedy show returns for a fourth eight-part series that pairs established headliner stand-up comedians alongside new support acts. New host Rob Delaney also performs to a live audience. Which is just as well if you want laughs.

GORDON, GINO AND FRED: ROAD TRIP | ITV 9PM

Three's a crowd

Putting together Gordon Ramsay, Gino D'Acampo and Fred Sirieix might sound like it came from the "blindfolded monkeys with a dartboard" school of TV commissioning, but when Gordon, Gino And Fred's Great Christmas Roast went out last December, it was a hit and viewers demanded more – so ITV has delivered.

This time the trio are back in the camper van and heading off on a personalised European tour, with each of them helping to deliver a major event in their home countries. They begin their journey in Italy, so Gino's in the driving seat – to the reluctance of Gordon and Fred, who don't trust their friend's driving skills. And they're right not to, as the van comes off worse in a scrap with a wall...

PRESS | BBC1 9PM

After making a name for himself by splashing other people's biggest secrets all over the front page, Duncan gets a taste of what that feels like from the other side in tonight's finale, as Holly threatens to expose his liaisons with sex worker Kristina. Given that Duncan's ex, Sarah, is in the process of trying to ensure he never gets to see his son again, this could hardly have come at a worse time for him. Meanwhile over at The Herald, James reconnects with an MI5 whistleblower to discover what the government's Resonance programme involves – which could be big news for the paper.

The lies have it

Would I Lie To You? is one of those rare shows that holds up over repeated viewings, which might well be why BBC1 is more than happy to fill random gaps in the schedule with old episodes. The only downside is that, with it being on nearly all the time anyway, it's not always easy to tell when it's a new series. So allow us to make it very clear: tonight's lies are all original, fresh and piping hot.

Lee's team is padded out by Bob Mortimer and The Lovely Debbie McGee, while David is joined by Dion Dublin and Lucy Porter. Did Dion once sneeze so violently while driving on a motorway that he set off his car's airbag? And is this week's mystery guest Debbie's former magic assistant, Bob's brewing buddy or Lee's car wash chum?

Cleese release me

THE LAST LEG | Channel 4 10PM

Speaking of shows that never seem to be off the air for very long, The Last Leg returns tonight after an eight-week break to begin its 15th series. As ever, Adam Hills, Alex Brooker and Josh Widdicombe will be looking over the leading and most entertaining news stories of the week and finding the funny side of them, and the ever-useful #isitok hashtag helps us to navigate the potential etiquette pitfalls of modern life. This week the trio are joined by John Cleese, who is no stranger to weighing in on current events, so we anticipate that the conversation will be flowing freely tonight.

THE ROMANOFFS | Amazon Prime Video

Mad Men creator Matthew Weiner returns to television (well, streaming television) with this new anthology drama, telling stories of individuals around the world who believe themselves to be descendents of the deposed Russian royal family. Unusually for a streaming show, episodes will be released weekly rather than all in one batch – but we're getting two today to help us get hooked...

THE HAUNTING OF HILL HOUSE | Netflix

Prepare to have your spine well and truly chilled by this new horror series. A group of siblings who grew up in what would become a famous haunted house return there as adults to face their demons – but are they real or imaginary?

BEATS, BASS AND BARS - THE STORY OF... | BBC4 10PM

Rodney P presents this doc exploring how grime music rose out of the council estates of East London to become influential on an international scale. He'll be chatting with pioneers from across four decades of British black music.

IN and OUT

We spin soap's revolving door...

JAKE WOOD (Max Branning, EastEnders)

OUT We've loved Max's recent scheming and sparring with Rainie – but we'll have to make the most of the Branning bad boy while we can, as he'll be heading off next year. Star Jake Wood announced on Twitter that he's taking his podcast Pound For Pound around the UK for a live tour in January – which means no more Max for a while! EastEnders bosses have confirmed Max is taking "a short break" from Walford in 2019, but we'll have to wait to find out how he departs... 2019

KAI OWEN (Pete Buchanan, Hollyoaks)

IN Villainous Pete returns to Hollyoaks this week, as Joel visits the convicted paedophile in prison. Torchwood star Kai Owen first played the role for a 12-month stint between 2015 and 2016, when Pete was handed a seven-year sentence for his sexual abuse of Cleo. Will Joel persuade Pete to finally own up to what he did? 12 October

IN JUNE BROWN (Dot Branning, EastEnders)

It seems like an age since we last saw Dot in the Square, although we've been eagerly awaiting her forthcoming reunion with her old chum, Dr Legg. Dot returns from Ireland next week, but Sonia realises all is not well with her friend... 15 October

GEORGIA ADAMSON (Karen Thompson, Home and Away)

IN Patrick O'Connor (aka Dean) tells us that his character will soon be thrown a curveball when someone from his past catches up with him. "Things take a bit of a wild turn when Dean's mum, Karen, arrives in the Bay," the star tells us. "Stay tuned!" We can confirm that Georgia Adamson has been cast in the important role. Soon

THE EX FILES!

What are the one-time stars of soap up to now?

SAM & OLIVER'S TRAIN TRIP!

Former Walford resident Samantha Womack (aka Ronnie Branning) and ex-cobbles star Oliver Farnworth (who played Phelan's cellar-dwelling victim Andy Carver) are heading on tour next year for a brand-new production of The Girl On The Train. The play is based on Paula Hawkins' acclaimed novel, which was made into a film starring Emily Blunt in 2016. "Having been thoroughly captivated by the novel, the opportunity to take on a role like this is incredibly exciting," says Sam, who plays the lead character Rachel Watson.

JAMES GETS MARRIED!

Ex-Hollyoaks star James Sutton (aka John Paul McQueen from 2006 to 2017) got hitched last month! James shared pictures of himself with his new wife, Rachael Collin, on social media. "Thank you to everyone who made the trip down to Glastonbury and made our day so special," he wrote on Instagram. Congrats to you both!

WENDI'S FAMILY REUNION!

It was only last issue that we reported on a possible return to the cobbles for Wendi Peters – aka Cilla Battersby-Brown – and Wendi has added fuel to the rumours, by posting this snap of herself with Jennie MacAlpine (Fiz) and Sam Aston (Chesney). "Lovely family reunion – so great to catch up!" tweeted Wendi.

STAR CHOICE

Neighbours' April Rose Pengilly (Chloe)

"I'm really into a TV show called The Orville, which seemingly no one else has heard about! It's about to start season two, and it's made by Seth MacFarlane – the Family Guy creator – who also acts in it. It's basically like Star Trek, but with his kind of humour and writing."

HITS & MISSES!

WHAT'S HIT THE BULLSEYE RECENTLY – AND WHAT'S FALLEN WIDE OF THE MARK?

Cormac seems fun!

Oh well. Glad we didn't get too attached.

Has Mick been imprisoned in an episode of Star Trek? We hope Blue Tattoo-Face Guy becomes a regular. He could move to the Square as a new love interest for Sonia.

There's a statue of George III near our office that would be easier to teach to dance than Steve McDonald.

It was Bingo in the Buff in Hollyoaks this week. Eyes down for a full house.

Oh – the sadness of Paddy going through the list of things he and Chas need at the hospital when the baby is born... and his voice breaking over 'car seat'.

BULLSEYE!

Okay, so he's in the middle of the hallowed Inside Soap target, but it doesn't mean we've stopped loathing Stuart. However, praise where praise is due... star Ricky Champ has done amazing work creating the most unlikeable soap character we've known in a long time. It looks as if Mick will be trapped in Stuart's web for some time yet – but we can't wait to see this spider flushed!

Peter has some nerve giving Steve a lecture about the terrible sin of sleeping with his ex...

Big kudos for Emmerdale's 'Charity vs heavy farm machinery' scene. It stopped in time, but we still think the combine harvester would have come off worse!

When Emmerdale's Dr Cavanagh is on the guest house set, it's like when Gandalf visits the hobbits.

People claim Corrie has become too hard-hitting and violent. Meanwhile, Ken Barlow has cooked Rula Lenska a lasagne so she will tell him stories about her hair salon.

We feel sick to the stomach about the heartbreak speeding towards lovely Liz like the 07:15 from Manchester Piccadilly.

... while 'hypocrisy' doesn't even begin to cover Maira criticising Victoria for "swapping one brother for the other". Thank you, Mrs Two-Kids-By-John-Barton-And-One-By-James-Barton.
